The United States
Environmental Protection Agency
Announces the signing of the Interim Final Decision Document for the Statement of Basis at the
Franklin Power Products/
Amphenol Facility
Franklin, Indiana

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) recently signed an Interim Final Decision Document for the Statement of Basis at the Franklin Power Products/Amphenol Facility (Franklin, IN).

The selected remedy by the U.S. EPA includes institutional controls (facility deed restriction, restriction of water well drilling permits and advisory of confined space entry to sewer manholes) to prevent contact with contaminants; operation of an existing on-site groundwater recovery system that is to be upgraded; implementation of an air sparge/soil vapor extraction system that focuses on the focal point of contamination; and a monitoring system to evaluate the results. In response to a comment received by U.S. EPA during the public comment period, the selected remedy also includes the requirement that an additional investigation be conducted to determine whether the facility is a possible source of contamination of a nearby water supply wellfield.

Copies of the Interim Final Decision Document and other site-related documents are available for review at:
