Efforts taken to reduce the volume and toxicity of the wastes generated:
The Clean Harbors Recycling Services of Chicago, LLC facility recycles hazardous and non-hazardous waste from large industrial customers. The facility processes the majority of its customer's waste streams on a tolling basis. A standard practice of the facility is to develop a process for the customer's waste stream, and according to the customer's specifications, reclaims the product for return to the original customer. At times the facility will obtain waste streams from an industrial customer and process the waste to recover a useable product for sale on the open market. It is therefore the facility's practice and in our best business interest to recover as much of the waste stream's organic solvent product as possible in order to obtain the highest yield of product for reclaim and/or resale. Therefore, the facility endeavors to keep the unrecoverable portion of waste volume to a minimum percentage of the total volume of the original waste stream.
