Dear Mr. Washburn,

I have read about the proposed remedy to the radioactive waste buried at the West Lake landfill in Bridgeton, MO. A 70% removal of what is 100% lethal is not an acceptable solution on the face of it. The EPA must remove all of the radioactive material from this urban area. It has to be stored in a place that has been prepared to safely contain radioactive materials which just get more lethal with time. An urban area is not such a place. Thank you for your attention to my concerns.

Sincerely
Robert J. Hoffman
