General Comment

Federal recipients of transportation funds have been empowered to self-regulate and develop outreach and reporting methods without specific REQUIRED parameters which would assure compliance and accuracy, currently lacking. The attached two documents provides a brief summary and includes an Environmental Justice and Title VI complaint recently filed with specifics and public documents for support. Reform to reporting, compliance documentation and language changes are necessary to implement the intent of the law and guidelines established by NEPA. Unfortunately when laws like MAP21 are passed and State recipients are allowed to disregard NEPA oversight to streamline initiatives outlined in MAP21, these problems become even more convoluted.
