Hello Oracle Migration Group.

You have a couple mistakes on your spreadsheet that need updating.

Row 4 column B it should read "Emergency Management Portal"
Row 4 column E it should include campbell.ed@epa.gov and fan.cindy@epa.gov
Row 13 column D and E should have the email address Schaefer.joe@epa.gov; remove the other names all employees have retired except Dana Stalcup (He's a D.O.D.).

Deliberative Process / Ex. 5

Thanks.

Subject: Oracle Migration Update (1)

All,

You are receiving this message because you are listed as an owner of an application that utilizes the EPA's Oracle Identity and Access Manager infrastructure solution for authentication and/or authorization. If you are not an application owner, please notify us so that we may remove you from the mailing list.

Attached is a list of applications that are planned for migration. Each application has been grouped according to the combination of user type, method of access, and complexity, as described in the table below. Testing will be performed in sequential order, starting with Migration Group-1. You will be notified of your testing requirements in advance of your testing date(s). Please review the attachment and validate the information for your application(s) by replying to this email with confirmation of ownership/changes, by May 11th.

We will begin the development of the test schedule for all applications on May 16th. Actual testing is planned to run from July 16th to November 2nd. Please remember that the target migration completion date is December 21, 2018. For additional information, visit Oracle Migration Updates or send us an email.

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Subject: Open spots for Java and Sharepoint Follow up

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Thanks,

Dominique Reed

There is almost never a need for someone to be given a private key. The private key allows you to decrypt all traffic. I spoke with J Waldo on the set up of the Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 yesterday, and I believe I have all the necessary information to complete the setup so that Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 are able to interact with the WAM environments as they currently do on the Staging and Production servers. I hope to have the buildout completed later today.

However, I do not see any configuration at this time that would Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 ...isn't it a DigiCert wildcard, anyway? And certainly neither myself nor Christian should have ANY need for the PRIVATE key for the access server.

Maury, what exactly IS the below certificate you sent? I would like to understand what you (Maury/WAM) are anticipating the setup to be, since it appears we may have some confusion.

Paula

For security reasons we do not distribute private keys associated with certificates. Paula Childers is working on setting up the Dev environment and should be able to help you transfer the required certificates from Staging to Dev. I'm Cc'ing Paula on this message.

Hello Maury,

Do you have any private keys that we need as well in addition to the certificate? For example, when I create a keystore file using Java, I need an imported private key and a certificate to create a new keystore of type JKS. A typical command looks like this:

For empdev.epa.gov you need the certificate below added to the appropriate keystore path on the Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 application server. The WAM group cannot perform this task for you.

Jay / Maury,

Christian would like to follow-up this week (we are about to receive the EMP Dev server, presumably within 24 hrs)

1. IAM Setup of Dev Server to be identical to Staging
2. Procedures / Protocols Christian / Rakhi should follow

4:30 on Thursday is the only time we are all available for the remainder of the week – but this is important, we really need to make sure we can hit the ground running with this Dev server.

Thanks.

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

I will speak with them both about submitting earlier in the day on Friday to coincide with EST submission deadlines. This shouldn't be a problem again moving forward. Again, my apologies.

Hi Dom,

Please include Kertis Henderson in the second round of interviews.

Have you spoken to Svitlana yet?

Thanks,

Hi Dominique,

The incumbent to reach out to for this role is Svitlana Shlykova. If you don't have her resume let me know.

Also, we may have some changes to attendees for the second set of interviews. I'll let you know.

Thanks,

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:

Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Thanks,

Hi Bo,

Both timesheets are approved. I apologize, these individuals are both West Coast and submitted at 8PM EST last Friday (and admittedly I had forgotten to sign them yesterday as I don't associate Monday to timesheet signatures in my mind).

I will speak with them both about submitting earlier in the day on Friday to coincide with EST submission deadlines. This shouldn't be a problem again moving forward. Again, my apologies.

Hi Bo,

Both timesheets are approved. I apologize, these individuals are both West Coast and submitted at 8PM EST last Friday (and admittedly I had forgotten to sign them yesterday as I don't associate Monday to timesheet signatures in my mind).

I will speak with them both about submitting earlier in the day on Friday to coincide with EST submission deadlines. This shouldn't be a problem again moving forward. Again, my apologies.

Thanks,

Subject: Open spots for Java and Sharepoint Follow up

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Thanks,

Hi Ed

Please ask NCC remove all references to previous developers from groups where lanids are present. Rob asked me to tell you this on Friday afternoon, along with his many thoughts on how NCC is responding to our simple requests. In summary, he asked:

a) NCC immediately remove all lanids from Salient on all systems
b) NCC stops replying to you and I like they were in high school (this is reference to LeAnn and Paula) – he mentioned if they do this again, he will call a meeting with Paula, Ali, etc and other EPA staff (either that he works with or higher up)

c) He wants much better SLA response times – they should be acting on our EMP requests within 1-2 hours ideally, not as it has been.

Hello Ed,

Rob mentioned to me that NCC needs to remove from all groups on all machines Salient developers and was asked by Rob to inform you of this. Salient is still in Linux groups even though they are most likely to have their access / login revoked when they left.

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Hi Ed

Please ask NCC remove all references to previous developers from groups where lanids are present. Rob asked me to tell you this on Friday afternoon, along with his many thoughts on how NCC is responding to our simple requests. In summary, he asked:

a) NCC immediately remove all lanids from Salient on all systems
b) NCC stops replying to you and I like they were in high school (this is reference to LeAnn and Paula) – he mentioned if they do this again, he will call a meeting with Paula, Ali, etc and other EPA staff (either that he works with or higher up)
c) He wants much better SLA response times – they should be acting on our EMP requests within 1-2 hours ideally, not as it has been.

Hello Ed,

Rob mentioned to me that NCC needs to remove from all groups on all machines Salient developers and was asked by Rob to inform you of this. Salient is still in Linux groups even though they are most likely to have their access / login revoked when they left.

He's definitely not operating in reality. Too much of that going around right now. For what it's worth, your conversation with him did have an impact - he's no longer acting like he's invincible, so I think at least some of what you said got through. Based on your recap to us, it sounded like it was a pretty intense convo… sad it had to come to that. And too little too late on his part.

With that said, I did want to reiterate that we are not quite ready to remove Rakhi – I know Ali had mentioned we were concerned about her, but she seems to be improving as time passes in the junior position. Some of the criticism of her has come from Christian as well, so obviously we're taking that with the largest grain of salt possible. She is much better about working with the rest of the team, which is important.

Question - Is there a window for easily removing staff members on this project that's closing?

A simple README from Adobe Flash Player for Linux. This is all it is. A simple text file with simple instructions so someone with little knowledge to expert knowledge can perform operations. In our case, App settings (config files, keystores, etc) are part of the config/install steps. So here is a random simple README online. Rakhi even mentioned she is so used to writing READMEs for previous work environments like B of A. Its normal for Linux since on Windows installers do it (but one has to write code in the Installers). In Linux with so many variants, users use READMEs to do the setup.

Adobe Flash for Linux

Installation instructions

Installing using the plugin tar.gz

- Unpack the plugin tar.gz and copy the files to the appropriate location.
- Save the plugin tar.gz locally and note the location the file was saved to.
- Launch terminal and change directories to the location the file was saved to.
- Unpack the tar.gz file. Once unpacked you will see the following:
- libflashplayer.so
- /usr
- Identify the location of the browser plugins directory, based on your Linux distribution and Firefox version
- Copy libflashplayer.so to the appropriate browser plugins directory. At the prompt type:

- $ cp libflashlayer.so <BrowserPluginsLocation>
- Copy the Flash Player Local Settings configurations files to the /usr directory. At the prompt type:
- $ sudo cp –r usr/* /usr

Install the plug-in using RPM:

- As root, enter in terminal:
- # rpm -Uvh <rpm_package_file>
- Click Enter and follow prompts

Install the standalone player:

- Unpack the tar.gz file
- To execute the standalone player:
- Double-click, or
- Enter in terminal: ./flashplayer

Since I haven't heard a reply from either, I will leave one last note on this topic.

Paula's work is not middleware only. She is configuring applications and Deliberative Process / b5 directories. By instruction from Salient. She has this all stored in her head or notes from previous 10s to 100s of times of deploying to staging/prod over the years. We need this info. The success of the project needs this info. She is the only string between Salient and us.

Thus far I have written programs/scripts to understand what's really there for apps on staging and prod. That info was conveyed to both Ed and Rob. I did a lot of forensics.

Since we received our dev machine, I tried to look at what was up on staging. She hid critical files. That changed as of today with emp and access to read which I had to request several times this week and once LeAnn got involved and listened to me, she made it happen finally.

But that still leaves config. I can write forensics to look at all diffs between to standard MIDDLEWARE deployment to specific APPWARE deployment.

Paula's team is NOT just middleware, they are APPWARE, and they make changes which impact how the system is setup. We need to know what those changes are. In the time I have written these emails explaining it, Paula could have written 10-20 lines in a readme.

We need to know this stuff for:

i) Local dev for all developers on local machines

ii) To make changes in the future
iii) To update whenever we need to as we will be making code changes which impact the config files – some open tickets already which I resolved will have changes
iv) We need to swap security out in future according to IAM/WAM – we have to remove and write lots of code to do that. So we need to know what is changed from standard simple MIDDLEWARE deployments.

We/I need your support on this last remaining topic so we can be done with Paula's team.

Even Rakhi has stated in the past she has written to Paula and same irresponsible no-acts have occurred. Even Cindy too.

Thank you.

Subject: RE: EMP dev box

Hi Ed/Ali

I am going to summarize this:

a) Lockheed and then Salient knew the setup. They decided the setup. They configured the setup.
b) We don't have that at our disposal. What we do have up to this point is what is on staging.
c) Since early Feb I requested emp group access (if we couldn't get Personal Privacy / Ex. 6 on staging), so dev can see what's there. Paula had intentionally changed permissions on the mission critical important files so no one could see it but her Personal Privacy / Ex. 6
d) We decided on Monday that we wouldn't make it a working session (meaning just do it in the meeting as I set it up to be as it is titled working session meeting and let Ed know the purpose of the meeting) – Paula and LeAnn wanted to take a stake in it and not perform any work on it in the meeting.
e) So dev is waiting on Paula to install middleware and configure it.
f) However, in the installation process/configuration process, there is no README. Paula knows what to do because she did it by instructions by Salient in the past, or Salient went in and modified certain directories which until today do we have access to (emp group) even though I requested it almost day one in Feb.
g) So it would be much easier for Paula to write a simple README file so we are aware of what is in the configuration steps so we can do the same in our own dev local.
h) I would need to run diff comparisons in order to figure out what she did.
i) To alleviate that step, Paula could simply write a README so we in dev know what modifications were made to standard deployments.
j) Keystores which Paula has hidden from us still to this day has keys for apps to work on staging. On dev she will reproduce new keys based on certs and private keys that IAM gives her. We can't construct something we can't even see. We need this for our own dev local machines to work plus we need to know what;'s there since we will be updating security in the coming months as well.
We should also know what they are , how they are constructed. This can never happen since Paula has hidden them (see emails from yday). She will not let us know what she does. This cannot be.

This all goes back to fact that we don't have a dev machine and a day with Salient to discuss this stuff. So the alternative only in the conditions we were provided, a README will help so we can know what needs to be configured not only from a get it up and run locally on our dev, but from a project perspective of what's there as they change every single update to passwords,to how we do security, how we deploy, etc.

So, I would appreciate if you provide full support for development so that we can do things the right way. Thank you

For the life of me I can't understand why you're hung up on this README, Christian. Salient didn't have one, so clearly they didn't think it was needed. Middleware doesn't want to produce one because they've done literally thousands of Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 installs for other developers on other projects and none of them have needed a readme on the work the Middleware team was performing for them, with no developer involvement.

Yes they did. They had it in their own world as they decided their deployments – see below for example. That's in Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 Project specific. Non standard Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 deployments. So I have to say that's false.

Deliberative Process / Ex. 5

You keep pointing to Salient's offsite Dev environment as if what they used to do on their own server somehow equates to it being okay for us to do whatever we want within EPA's environment. It doesn't. They are simply not the same. These are not rules being made up to block you by Paula and co. on the fly; they are long standing policies made way above our heads a very long time ago.

False. Doesn't matter where it resides.

I'm sorry but I'm out of patience for this today. We can talk about it on Monday (Rob is out of the office today anyway). Please let me know with regards to the other wheels in motion (IAM, Cindy's piece, etc.) if everything else is completed for Dev.

IAM waiting on, and Paula's team so we can start our setup as to what we need to do on the server before development – like snapshotting the repo, etc checkouts, etc.

You must realize that we didn't discuss with Salient deployment. They modified files. Ill play forensics if I need to if they don't provide. But why? I spent many hours to even determine that Paula had sabotaged the project (changed permissions to normal files so only she could see them). Rakhi and I had countless hours of frustration trying to get things to work because files and directories were being intentionally hidden from our view – the developers. Even Rob has stated the following:

> Keep me posted for any actions I need to approve of. I agree we need to have the same rights, access, permissions at the previous contractor. Even as they developed offsite. LOL.

Thsat should be grounds for getting a README or I need to play forensics. I even requeted EMP access 20 times since Feb, Rob twice, and not until I finally let LeAnn know that it is needed did Paula act on it.

I need to show what a README is. SO here is reference.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/README

Deliberative Process / Ex. 5

A readme takes an extra 10 seconds per major step. A readme is required idf they are touching files in development box that isn't standard install and it isn't. I gave case and points the other day to Ed.

Hey Christian,

Sorry I'm very busy right now so I can't chat about it over the phone but in re-reading what LeAnn sent below – I think you're getting more than the norm already… I've noted some things below for your consideration here:

- Middleware team will build, patch, configure, update the middleware – Deliberative Process / Ex. 5, java.

Requested (in our Monday meeting) --- Sounds like this one is good to go. We decided that on Monday. Although it's much easier than they make it out to be.

- Middleware team will not provide further documentation/README on the install and configuration of these environments, beyond what has already been supplied. There is no point to spend time and customer dollars to document tasks which can be handled by the middleware team. Specific questions can be emailed to cam_middleware@epa.gov, or to Paula / CC LeAnn.

No, we need to know what they are doing on our dev box. Will need README. --- README file will not be created. Paula sends out a quarterly with the updates that will be made. You'll see the changes before they're made so you can ask questions at that point. README is because they modify app specific files – that we need to know. Even the keys files.

- Read-only access to middleware config files, log files will be provided either via group membership or adding world-read in the staging and dev environments; the mechanism by which to provide this will be up to the middleware team.

No not on dev. --- Read only access is all that's ever provided to non-Middleware members even on dev boxes. As long as the dev box is paid for by an NCC customer and managed by NCC, this is the process and it will not change. Totally false. As dev decides what goes in the config files.

- A ticket has been opened with WAM to add EMP developers to the EMP group.

Completed by WAM – I had requested this --- Done, excellent!

- Middleware team manager will not approve any sudo to administrative users used to build or configure middleware such as Personal Privacy / Ex. 6 and potentially others.

We're not trying to build it. We need sudo for other things. --- You already have root access so I'm not understanding the issue here? You don't need sudo for anything if you have root. Sudo can do anything but we aren't attempting to take their dollars from them to our project. We agreed on Monday they would do it.

- Middleware team recommends that if EMP developers do have full root or sudo all on the dev box, that this be removed. This is for their protection. The use of sudo is closely tracked by the hosting team and security tickets can be raised or opened.

Nope (dev) – Rob already approved of this --- Correct, this is approved and you already have the access needed. She's not going to remove it, she's just making a recommendation to cover her ass (battle won) – I see. OK I saw they wanted to revoke it.

- If it is not removed, middleware team requests and requires that communication in writing be given to EMP developers stating clearly that they are not to attempt to change the middleware environment in any way. Any such changes which cause security problems, config-drift issue with production, etc will require additional hours – which cannot be determined – to correct.

We are not attempting to change middleware --- Not removing your access, she's just covering her ass again here (battle won) Perfect.

- Middleware team will recommend and facilitate sudo rights to stop and restart Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 and deploy code.

Nope – absolutely not (dev). We will be restarting Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 regularly --- She is giving you Sudo rights to restart Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 regularly (battle won)., She isn't givng anything. I took it with Rob 5 days ago ☺ Greg.

We need README. Absolutely. As dev decides deployment. Even Rob wants consolidation in future of tomcat instances. But there are technical grounds for a README. And we need it.

The only reason they don't want to provide a README is because I had requested it. They feel as if they don't need to so they can silo this on dev even now. In my 26 yerars of work, plus 20+ concurrent years of projects = 46 years+, they are doing this for purposes only to keep what they do secret so they remain relevant and that is the only reason. README takes seconds per major step. All it is is the following:

1. Install latest Apache using yum install as follows.
2. Copyt over config for empadmin into config directory.

That's it.
They are turning this into protectionist reply. Only reason. Guaranteed 100%.

Hello Alison

Can we do this via phone. Much easier to go over it. As yesterday proved, Paula had hid application specific files from us for 2 months.

The middleware team does this on all their servers/applications in the NCC and they don't provide README files on any of the boxes. Unfortunately, they don't have time to do that each time they make updates.
In DEV, we need it. I can see why security is so bad in Salient's current implementation – because Middleware constantly changed things. We even have open tickets in JIRA that Rob noticed that had strange behaviours that I have already solved. We need to know which files they are changing. They put app specific in thei Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 irectories. I showed several cases to Ed in email yesterday. This is the silo stuff I am referring to in par.

This dev server is owned by the customer and managed by the Middleware/Server admins. That's how the responsibilities are doled out on this contract. It's not within the Middleware teams job descriptions to provide README files to non-Middleware members. Access to middleware directory outside of "Read" will not be provided to any non-Middleware members. This is not a personal thing against you or a siloing thing – this is just the way the processes are written for this contract.

Nope we need because dev decides how it setup in the first place (Salient did and we need to as well).

This is not a battle that will be won so please disengage and move forward on your dev work.

Cant we don't even have a dev server.

Both timesheets are approved. I apologize, these individuals are both West Coast and submitted at 8PM EST last Friday (and admittedly I had forgotten to sign them yesterday as I don't associate Monday to timesheet signatures in my mind).

I will speak with them both about submitting earlier in the day on Friday to coincide with EST submission deadlines. This shouldn't be a problem again moving forward. Again, my apologies.

Sure thing!

So, I'm hoping that what Tonya works out with the HR team will answer those questions you just asked but if they don't, we can ask them of her (since she'll be the one directly communicating with them).

Hello Alison, thank you for your email. I am so glad you began this push back on this Citizenship Verification. As IT folks we all know this is a serious risk. I was shocked to see the request being made with all the hacks and attention to protecting PII information in the media and in our company training. It is good to know management is taking this serious.

I have some questions..... I would like to know why they need to have a 'copy' of the information (versus someone just looking at it and verifying it), where will the information be stored, how long our documents are retained, and how that information is protected wherever it is stored, and who has access to that information.

Below is a link regarding why you should NOT send PII information via email...if you would like to read:

Subject: RE: Push back on Citizenship Verification

Hi All,

I received feedback about the reason behind this 'resubmit' of citizenship verification. Apparently, sometime shortly before CSRA took over this contract, there was a change in the HR onboarding process presumably as part of the CSC/SRA merger. This change included no longer needing citizenship verification documents as they felt the badge form was sufficient enough. Even though Tonya collected and sent the citizenship verification information, CSRA HR did not record or keep any of it. Fast forward to today; the first piece of the merger under GDIT was to verify the citizenship of each employee (go figure) and HR did not have that information for all or most of us that were hired after June, 2017.

All that being said please STILL DO NOT directly email your information. Eric/Jerry/Tonya agree that it's not secure and they're working with the HR team to come up with a better way to bulk collect/securely send the information. Tonya will be sending out information about it as soon as it's solidified (hopefully by COB tomorrow).

If you have additional questions please let me know.

Thanks,

Hi All,

I wanted to let you know that per some concerns of our team members (and my own); I pushed back yesterday with my management on this Citizenship Verification requests we've all been getting.

I've asked that Eric Toliver or his management provide us with a reason behind our lost data as well as confirmation that our data will be safe when we submit the second time. LeAnn and her team felt the same way so they also stated they would like that information before we submit. I'm waiting to hear what they come back with. Please don't feel pressured to submit your very personal information over email before you hear from me.

Not should I take the crap from NCC as it has been dished. Rob randomly wrote on this and now Im being attacked by you too?!

To be clear. Please do not communicate to Rob without me / Colleen CC-ed. It's not okay for you to escalate your problems with the staff directly to our customer without running your thoughts / questions through us first. Hi Ed

Please ask NCC remove all references to previous developers from groups where lanids are present. Rob asked me to tell you this on Friday afternoon, along with his many thoughts on how NCC is responding to our simple requests. In summary, he asked:

a) NCC immediately remove all lanids from Salient on all systems
b) NCC stops replying to you and I like they were in high school (this is reference to LeAnn and Paula) – he mentioned if they do this again, he will call a meeting with Paula, Ali, etc and other EPA staff (either that he works with or higher up)
c) He wants much better SLA response times – they should be acting on our EMP requests within 1-2 hours ideally, not as it has been.

Hello Ed,

Rob mentioned to me that NCC needs to remove from all groups on all machines Salient developers and was asked by Rob to inform you of this. Salient is still in Linux groups even though they are most likely to have their access / login revoked when they left.

"Their contract was cancelled and some of those 5 user name need to removed, yesterday. This violates FISMA NIST 800-53 Rev 4 Security Controls on proper user access."

Sure thing!

So, I'm hoping that what Tonya works out with the HR team will answer those questions you just asked but if they don't, we can ask them of her (since she'll be the one directly communicating with them).

Hello Alison, thank you for your email. I am so glad you began this push back on this Citizenship Verification. As IT folks we all know this is a serious risk. I was shocked to see the request being made with all the hacks and attention to protecting PII information in the media and in our company training. It is good to know management is taking this serious.

I have some questions..... I would like to know why they need to have a 'copy' of the information (versus someone just looking at it and verifying it), where will the information be stored, how long our documents are retained, and how that information is protected wherever it is stored, and who has access to that information.

Below is a link regarding why you should NOT send PII information via email...if you would like to read:

Thank you again.

Subject: RE: Push back on Citizenship Verification

Hi All,

I received feedback about the reason behind this 'resubmit' of citizenship verification. Apparently, sometime shortly before CSRA took over this contract, there was a change in the HR onboarding process presumably as part of the CSC/SRA merger. This change included no longer needing citizenship verification documents as they felt the badge form was sufficient enough. Even though Tonya collected and sent the citizenship verification information, CSRA HR did not record or keep any of it. Fast forward to today; the first piece of the merger under GDIT was to verify the citizenship of each employee (go figure) and HR did not have that information for all or most of us that were hired after June, 2017.

All that being said please STILL DO NOT directly email your information. Eric/Jerry/Tonya agree that it's not secure and they're working with the HR team to come up with a better way to bulk collect/securely send the information. Tonya will be sending out information about it as soon as it's solidified (hopefully by COB tomorrow).

If you have additional questions please let me know.

Thanks,

Hi All,

I wanted to let you know that per some concerns of our team members (and my own); I pushed back yesterday with my management on this Citizenship Verification requests we've all been getting.

I've asked that Eric Toliver or his management provide us with a reason behind our lost data as well as confirmation that our data will be safe when we submit the second time. LeAnn and her team felt the same way so they also stated they would like that information before we submit. I'm waiting to hear what they come back with. Please don't feel pressured to submit your very personal information over email before you hear from me.

Hi Ed

Please ask NCC remove all references to previous developers from groups where lanids are present. Rob asked me to tell you this on Friday afternoon, along with his many thoughts on how NCC is responding to our simple requests. In summary, he asked:

a) NCC immediately remove all lanids from Salient on all systems
b) NCC stops replying to you and I like they were in high school (this is reference to LeAnn and Paula) – he mentioned if they do this again, he will call a meeting with Paula, Ali, etc and other EPA staff (either that he works with or higher up)
c) He wants much better SLA response times – they should be acting on our EMP requests within 1-2 hours ideally, not as it has been.

Subject: Oracle Migration Update (1)

All,

You are receiving this message because you are listed as an owner of an application that utilizes the EPA's Oracle Identity and Access Manager infrastructure solution for authentication and/or authorization. If you are not an application owner, please notify us so that we may remove you from the mailing list.

Attached is a list of applications that are planned for migration. Each application has been grouped according to the combination of user type, method of access, and complexity, as described in the table below. Testing will be performed in sequential order, starting with Migration Group-1. You will be notified of your testing requirements in advance of your testing date(s). Please review the attachment and validate the information for your application(s) by replying to this email with confirmation of ownership/changes, by May 11th.

We will begin the development of the test schedule for all applications on May 16th. Actual testing is planned to run from July 16th to November 2nd. Please remember that the target migration completion date is December 21, 2018. For additional information, visit Oracle Migration Updates or send us an email.

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Hi Bo,

Both timesheets are approved. I apologize, these individuals are both West Coast and submitted at 8PM EST last Friday (and admittedly I had forgotten to sign them yesterday as I don't associate Monday to timesheet signatures in my mind).

I will speak with them both about submitting earlier in the day on Friday to coincide with EST submission deadlines. This shouldn't be a problem again moving forward. Again, my apologies.

There is almost never a need for someone to be given a private key. The private key allows you to decrypt all traffic. The only time I can remember a private key being handed off to someone was – to decrypt traffic (there was network troubleshooting going on and the problem could not been seen with the traffic encrypted."

This request disturbs me.....

I spoke with J Waldo on the set up of the Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 yesterday, and I believe I have all the necessary information to complete the setup so that Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 are able to interact with the WAM environments as they currently do on the Staging and Production servers. I hope to have the buildout completed later today.

However, I do not see any configuration at this time that would Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 ...isn't it a DigiCert wildcard, anyway? And certainly neither myself nor Christian should have ANY need for the PRIVATE key for the access server.

Maury, what exactly IS the below certificate you sent? I would like to understand what you (Maury/WAM) are anticipating the setup to be, since it appears we may have some confusion.

Thanks,
Paula

Christian,

For security reasons we do not distribute private keys associated with certificates. Paula Childers is working on setting up the Dev environment and should be able to help you transfer the required certificates from Staging to Dev. I'm Cc'ing Paula on this message.

Hello Maury,

Do you have any private keys that we need as well in addition to the certificate? For example, when I create a keystore file using Java, I need an imported private key and a certificate to create a new keystore of type JKS. A typical command looks like this:

For empdev.epa.gov you need the certificate below added to the appropriate keystore path on the Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 application server. The WAM group cannot perform this task for you.

Jay / Maury,

Christian would like to follow-up this week (we are about to receive the EMP Dev server, presumably within 24 hrs)

1. IAM Setup of Dev Server to be identical to Staging
2. Procedures / Protocols Christian / Rakhi should follow

4:30 on Thursday is the only time we are all available for the remainder of the week – but this is important, we really need to make sure we can hit the ground running with this Dev server.

Thanks.

Both timesheets are approved. I apologize, these individuals are both West Coast and submitted at 8PM EST last Friday (and admittedly I had forgotten to sign them yesterday as I don't associate Monday to timesheet signatures in my mind).

I will speak with them both about submitting earlier in the day on Friday to coincide with EST submission deadlines. This shouldn't be a problem again moving forward. Again, my apologies.

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Hi Dominique,

The incumbent to reach out to for this role is Svitlana Shlykova. If you don't have her resume let me know.

Also, we may have some changes to attendees for the second set of interviews. I'll let you know.

Thanks,

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:

Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Thanks,

Both timesheets are approved. I apologize, these individuals are both West Coast and submitted at 8PM EST last Friday (and admittedly I had forgotten to sign them yesterday as I don't associate Monday to timesheet signatures in my mind).

I will speak with them both about submitting earlier in the day on Friday to coincide with EST submission deadlines. This shouldn't be a problem again moving forward. Again, my apologies.

Hi Bo,

Both timesheets are approved. I apologize, these individuals are both West Coast and submitted at 8PM EST last Friday (and admittedly I had forgotten to sign them yesterday as I don't associate Monday to timesheet signatures in my mind).

I will speak with them both about submitting earlier in the day on Friday to coincide with EST submission deadlines. This shouldn't be a problem again moving forward. Again, my apologies.

Thanks,

Hi Bo,

Both timesheets are approved. I apologize, these individuals are both West Coast and submitted at 8PM EST last Friday (and admittedly I had forgotten to sign them yesterday as I don't associate Monday to timesheet signatures in my mind).

I will speak with them both about submitting earlier in the day on Friday to coincide with EST submission deadlines. This shouldn't be a problem again moving forward. Again, my apologies.

Thanks,

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Thanks,

Hi Ed

Please ask NCC remove all references to previous developers from groups where lanids are present. Rob asked me to tell you this on Friday afternoon, along with his many thoughts on how NCC is responding to our simple requests. In summary, he asked:

a) NCC immediately remove all lanids from Salient on all systems
b) NCC stops replying to you and I like they were in high school (this is reference to LeAnn and Paula) – he mentioned if they do this again, he will call a meeting with Paula, Ali, etc and other EPA staff (either that he works with or higher up)

c) He wants much better SLA response times – they should be acting on our EMP requests within 1-2 hours ideally, not as it has been.

Hello Ed,

Rob mentioned to me that NCC needs to remove from all groups on all machines Salient developers and was asked by Rob to inform you of this. Salient is still in Linux groups even though they are most likely to have their access / login revoked when they left.

To be clear. Please do not communicate to Rob without me / Colleen CC-ed. It's not okay for you to escalate your problems with the staff directly to our customer without running your thoughts / questions through us first. Paula asked for 20 hours to do the initial configuration on our server and she has not had 20 hours yet. She was working on this on Friday.

Subject: Open spots for Java and Sharepoint Follow up

Hey guys,

Thanks for connecting with me on the Feedback. Here is where we stand per our meeting:
Arif- is front runner for Leckner backfill, but you guys will send me the incumbent's info that you may want to bring on through us by COB if Jen can get the info to you.
Austin- good backfill for Rakhi, but we are giving her more time to improve.

Sharepoint
Mahalet is the choice for Sharepoint. Ron is following up today with customer to get the onboarding approved for this spot.

What I need:
Interview times for 2nd interview for Arif and Austin for 2nd interviews that will be strictly technical. Can we aim for Wed or Thursday?
Interview times for the 1st interview for Incumbent and for My other candidate.

Thanks,

Personally, I think you should stop making assumptions – Rob just started writing emails and I shouldn't hear this from you.

Not should I take the crap from NCC as it has been dished. Rob randomly wrote on this and now Im being attacked by you too?!

To be clear. Please do not communicate to Rob without me / Colleen CC-ed. It's not okay for you to escalate your problems with the staff directly to our customer without running your thoughts / questions through us first. Paula asked for 20 hours to do the initial configuration on our server and she has not had 20 hours yet. She was working on this on Friday.

Hi Ed

Please ask NCC remove all references to previous developers from groups where lanids are present. Rob asked me to tell you this on Friday afternoon, along with his many thoughts on how NCC is responding to our simple requests. In summary, he asked:

a) NCC immediately remove all lanids from Salient on all systems
b) NCC stops replying to you and I like they were in high school (this is reference to LeAnn and Paula) – he mentioned if they do this again, he will call a meeting with Paula, Ali, etc and other EPA staff (either that he works with or higher up)
c) He wants much better SLA response times – they should be acting on our EMP requests within 1-2 hours ideally, not as it has been.

Hello Ed,

Rob mentioned to me that NCC needs to remove from all groups on all machines Salient developers and was asked by Rob to inform you of this. Salient is still in Linux groups even though they are most likely to have their access / login revoked when they left.

He's definitely not operating in reality. Too much of that going around right now. For what it's worth, your conversation with him did have an impact - he's no longer acting like he's invincible, so I think at least some of what you said got through. Based on your recap to us, it sounded like it was a pretty intense convo… sad it had to come to that. And too little too late on his part.

With that said, I did want to reiterate that we are not quite ready to remove Rakhi – I know Ali had mentioned we were concerned about her, but she seems to be improving as time passes in the junior position. Some of the criticism of her has come from Christian as well, so obviously we're taking that with the largest grain of salt possible. She is much better about working with the rest of the team, which is important.

Question - Is there a window for easily removing staff members on this project that's closing?

A simple README from Adobe Flash Player for Linux. This is all it is. A simple text file with simple instructions so someone with little knowledge to expert knowledge can perform operations. In our case, App settings (config files, keystores, etc) are part of the config/install steps. So here is a random simple README online. Rakhi even mentioned she is so used to writing READMEs for previous work environments like B of A. Its normal for Linux since on Windows installers do it (but one has to write code in the Installers). In Linux with so many variants, users use READMEs to do the setup.

Adobe Flash for Linux

Installation instructions

Installing using the plugin tar.gz

- Unpack the plugin tar.gz and copy the files to the appropriate location.
- Save the plugin tar.gz locally and note the location the file was saved to.
- Launch terminal and change directories to the location the file was saved to.
- Unpack the tar.gz file. Once unpacked you will see the following:
- libflashplayer.so
- /usr
- Identify the location of the browser plugins directory, based on your Linux distribution and Firefox version
- Copy libflashplayer.so to the appropriate browser plugins directory. At the prompt type:

- $ cp libflashlayer.so <BrowserPluginsLocation>
- Copy the Flash Player Local Settings configurations files to the /usr directory. At the prompt type:
- $ sudo cp –r usr/* /usr

Install the plug-in using RPM:

- As root, enter in terminal:
- # rpm -Uvh <rpm_package_file>
- Click Enter and follow prompts

Install the standalone player:

- Unpack the tar.gz file
- To execute the standalone player:
- Double-click, or
- Enter in terminal: ./flashplayer

Since I haven't heard a reply from either, I will leave one last note on this topic.

Paula's work is not middleware only. She is configuring applications and Deliberative Process / b5 directories. By instruction from Salient. She has this all stored in her head or notes from previous 10s to 100s of times of deploying to staging/prod over the years. We need this info. The success of the project needs this info. She is the only string between Salient and us.

Thus far I have written programs/scripts to understand what's really there for apps on staging and prod. That info was conveyed to both Ed and Rob. I did a lot of forensics.

Since we received our dev machine, I tried to look at what was up on staging. She hid critical files. That changed as of today with emp and access to read which I had to request several times this week and once LeAnn got involved and listened to me, she made it happen finally.

But that still leaves config. I can write forensics to look at all diffs between to standard MIDDLEWARE deployment to specific APPWARE deployment.

Paula's team is NOT just middleware, they are APPWARE, and they make changes which impact how the system is setup. We need to know what those changes are. In the time I have written these emails explaining it, Paula could have written 10-20 lines in a readme.

We need to know this stuff for:

i) Local dev for all developers on local machines

ii) To make changes in the future
iii) To update whenever we need to as we will be making code changes which impact the config files – some open tickets already which I resolved will have changes
iv) We need to swap security out in future according to IAM/WAM – we have to remove and write lots of code to do that. So we need to know what is changed from standard simple MIDDLEWARE deployments.

We/I need your support on this last remaining topic so we can be done with Paula's team.

Even Rakhi has stated in the past she has written to Paula and same irresponsible no-acts have occurred. Even Cindy too.

Thank you.

Subject: RE: EMP dev box

Hi Ed/Ali

I am going to summarize this:

a) Lockheed and then Salient knew the setup. They decided the setup. They configured the setup.
b) We don't have that at our disposal. What we do have up to this point is what is on staging.
c) Since early Feb I requested emp group access (if we couldn't get Personal Privacy / Ex. 6 on staging), so dev can see what's there. Paula had intentionally changed permissions on the mission critical important files so no one could see it but her Personal Privacy / Ex. 6
d) We decided on Monday that we wouldn't make it a working session (meaning just do it in the meeting as I set it up to be as it is titled working session meeting and let Ed know the purpose of the meeting) – Paula and LeAnn wanted to take a stake in it and not perform any work on it in the meeting.
e) So dev is waiting on Paula to install middleware and configure it.
f) However, in the installation process/configuration process, there is no README. Paula knows what to do because she did it by instructions by Salient in the past, or Salient went in and modified certain directories which until today do we have access to (emp group) even though I requested it almost day one in Feb.
g) So it would be much easier for Paula to write a simple README file so we are aware of what is in the configuration steps so we can do the same in our own dev local.
h) I would need to run diff comparisons in order to figure out what she did.
i) To alleviate that step, Paula could simply write a README so we in dev know what modifications were made to standard deployments.
j) Keystores which Paula has hidden from us still to this day has keys for apps to work on staging. On dev she will reproduce new keys based on certs and private keys that IAM gives her. We can't construct something we can't even see. We need this for our own dev local machines to work plus we need to know what;'s there since we will be updating security in the coming months as well.
We should also know what they are , how they are constructed. This can never happen since Paula has hidden them (see emails from yday). She will not let us know what she does. This cannot be.

This all goes back to fact that we don't have a dev machine and a day with Salient to discuss this stuff. So the alternative only in the conditions we were provided, a README will help so we can know what needs to be configured not only from a get it up and run locally on our dev, but from a project perspective of what's there as they change every single update to passwords,to how we do security, how we deploy, etc.

So, I would appreciate if you provide full support for development so that we can do things the right way. Thank you

For the life of me I can't understand why you're hung up on this README, Christian. Salient didn't have one, so clearly they didn't think it was needed. Middleware doesn't want to produce one because they've done literally thousands of Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 installs for other developers on other projects and none of them have needed a readme on the work the Middleware team was performing for them, with no developer involvement.

Yes they did. They had it in their own world as they decided their deployments – see below for example. That's in Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 Project specific. Non standard Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 deployments. So I have to say that's false.

Deliberative Process / Ex. 5

You keep pointing to Salient's offsite Dev environment as if what they used to do on their own server somehow equates to it being okay for us to do whatever we want within EPA's environment. It doesn't. They are simply not the same. These are not rules being made up to block you by Paula and co. on the fly; they are long standing policies made way above our heads a very long time ago.

False. Doesn't matter where it resides.

I'm sorry but I'm out of patience for this today. We can talk about it on Monday (Rob is out of the office today anyway). Please let me know with regards to the other wheels in motion (IAM, Cindy's piece, etc.) if everything else is completed for Dev.

IAM waiting on, and Paula's team so we can start our setup as to what we need to do on the server before development – like snapshotting the repo, etc checkouts, etc.

You must realize that we didn't discuss with Salient deployment. They modified files. Ill play forensics if I need to if they don't provide. But why? I spent many hours to even determine that Paula had sabotaged the project (changed permissions to normal files so only she could see them). Rakhi and I had countless hours of frustration trying to get things to work because files and directories were being intentionally hidden from our view – the developers. Even Rob has stated the following:

> Keep me posted for any actions I need to approve of. I agree we need to have the same rights, access, permissions at the previous contractor. Even as they developed offsite. LOL.

Thsat should be grounds for getting a README or I need to play forensics. I even requeted EMP access 20 times since Feb, Rob twice, and not until I finally let LeAnn know that it is needed did Paula act on it.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/README

Deliberative Process / Ex. 5

A readme takes an extra 10 seconds per major step. A readme is required idf they are touching files in development box that isn't standard install and it isn't. I gave case and points the other day to Ed.

Subject: RE: EMP dev box

Hey Christian,

Sorry I'm very busy right now so I can't chat about it over the phone but in re-reading what LeAnn sent below – I think you're getting more than the norm already… I've noted some things below for your consideration here:

- Middleware team will build, patch, configure, update the middleware – Deliberative Process / Ex. 5, java.

Requested (in our Monday meeting) --- Sounds like this one is good to go. We decided that on Monday. Although it's much easier than they make it out to be.

- Middleware team will not provide further documentation/README on the install and configuration of these environments, beyond what has already been supplied. There is no point to spend time and customer dollars to document tasks which can be handled by the middleware team. Specific questions can be emailed to cam_middleware@epa.gov, or to Paula / CC LeAnn.

No, we need to know what they are doing on our dev box. Will need README. --- README file will not be created. Paula sends out a quarterly with the updates that will be made. You'll see the changes before they're made so you can ask questions at that point. README is because they modify app specific files – that we need to know. Even the keys files.

- Read-only access to middleware config files, log files will be provided either via group membership or adding world-read in the staging and dev environments; the mechanism by which to provide this will be up to the middleware team.

No not on dev. --- Read only access is all that's ever provided to non-Middleware members even on dev boxes. As long as the dev box is paid for by an NCC customer and managed by NCC, this is the process and it will not change. Totally false. As dev decides what goes in the config files.

- A ticket has been opened with WAM to add EMP developers to the EMP group.

Completed by WAM – I had requested this --- Done, excellent!

- Middleware team manager will not approve any sudo to administrative users used to build or configure middleware such as Personal Privacy / Ex. 6 and potentially others.

We're not trying to build it. We need sudo for other things. --- You already have root access so I'm not understanding the issue here? You don't need sudo for anything if you have root. Sudo can do anything but we aren't attempting to take their dollars from them to our project. We agreed on Monday they would do it.

- Middleware team recommends that if EMP developers do have full root or sudo all on the dev box, that this be removed. This is for their protection. The use of sudo is closely tracked by the hosting team and security tickets can be raised or opened.

Nope (dev) – Rob already approved of this --- Correct, this is approved and you already have the access needed. She's not going to remove it, she's just making a recommendation to cover her ass (battle won) – I see. OK I saw they wanted to revoke it.

- If it is not removed, middleware team requests and requires that communication in writing be given to EMP developers stating clearly that they are not to attempt to change the middleware environment in any way. Any such changes which cause security problems, config-drift issue with production, etc will require additional hours – which cannot be determined – to correct.

We are not attempting to change middleware --- Not removing your access, she's just covering her ass again here (battle won) Perfect.

- Middleware team will recommend and facilitate sudo rights to stop and restart Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 and deploy code.

Nope – absolutely not (dev). We will be restarting Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 regularly --- She is giving you Sudo rights to restart Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 regularly (battle won)., She isn't givng anything. I took it with Rob 5 days ago ☺ Greg.

We need README. Absolutely. As dev decides deployment. Even Rob wants consolidation in future of tomcat instances. But there are technical grounds for a README. And we need it.

Thanks,

The only reason they don't want to provide a README is because I had requested it. They feel as if they don't need to so they can silo this on dev even now. In my 26 yerars of work, plus 20+ concurrent years of projects = 46 years+, they are doing this for purposes only to keep what they do secret so they remain relevant and that is the only reason. README takes seconds per major step. All it is is the following:

1. Install latest Apache using yum install as follows.
2. Copyt over config for empadmin into config directory.

That's it.
They are turning this into protectionist reply. Only reason. Guaranteed 100%.

Hello Alison

Can we do this via phone. Much easier to go over it. As yesterday proved, Paula had hid application specific files from us for 2 months.

The middleware team does this on all their servers/applications in the NCC and they don't provide README files on any of the boxes. Unfortunately, they don't have time to do that each time they make updates.
In DEV, we need it. I can see why security is so bad in Salient's current implementation – because Middleware constantly changed things. We even have open tickets in JIRA that Rob noticed that had strange behaviours that I have already solved. We need to know which files they are changing. They put app specific in thei Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 irectories. I showed several cases to Ed in email yesterday. This is the silo stuff I am referring to in par.

This dev server is owned by the customer and managed by the Middleware/Server admins. That's how the responsibilities are doled out on this contract. It's not within the Middleware teams job descriptions to provide README files to non-Middleware members. Access to middleware directory outside of "Read" will not be provided to any non-Middleware members. This is not a personal thing against you or a siloing thing – this is just the way the processes are written for this contract.

Nope we need because dev decides how it setup in the first place (Salient did and we need to as well).

This is not a battle that will be won so please disengage and move forward on your dev work.

Cant we don't even have a dev server.

We talked about some of this yesterday, but I see some other emails from you where you are still asking to set up the Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 be provided readmes of the process, sign-off on what's been provided. Hi Bo,

Both timesheets are approved. I apologize, these individuals are both West Coast and submitted at 8PM EST last Friday (and admittedly I had forgotten to sign them yesterday as I don't associate Monday to timesheet signatures in my mind).

I will speak with them both about submitting earlier in the day on Friday to coincide with EST submission deadlines. This shouldn't be a problem again moving forward. Again, my apologies.

Hello Alison, thank you for your email. I am so glad you began this push back on this Citizenship Verification. As IT folks we all know this is a serious risk. I was shocked to see the request being made with all the hacks and attention to protecting PII information in the media and in our company training. It is good to know management is taking this serious.

I have some questions..... I would like to know why they need to have a 'copy' of the information (versus someone just looking at it and verifying it), where will the information be stored, how long our documents are retained, and how that information is protected wherever it is stored, and who has access to that information.

Below is a link regarding why you should NOT send PII information via email...if you would like to read:

Thank you again.

Subject: RE: Push back on Citizenship Verification

Hi All,

I received feedback about the reason behind this 'resubmit' of citizenship verification. Apparently, sometime shortly before CSRA took over this contract, there was a change in the HR onboarding process presumably as part of the CSC/SRA merger. This change included no longer needing citizenship verification documents as they felt the badge form was sufficient enough. Even though Tonya collected and sent the citizenship verification information, CSRA HR did not record or keep any of it. Fast forward to today; the first piece of the merger under GDIT was to verify the citizenship of each employee (go figure) and HR did not have that information for all or most of us that were hired after June, 2017.

All that being said please STILL DO NOT directly email your information. Eric/Jerry/Tonya agree that it's not secure and they're working with the HR team to come up with a better way to bulk collect/securely send the information. Tonya will be sending out information about it as soon as it's solidified (hopefully by COB tomorrow).

If you have additional questions please let me know.

Thanks,

Hi All,

I wanted to let you know that per some concerns of our team members (and my own); I pushed back yesterday with my management on this Citizenship Verification requests we've all been getting.

I've asked that Eric Toliver or his management provide us with a reason behind our lost data as well as confirmation that our data will be safe when we submit the second time. LeAnn and her team felt the same way so they also stated they would like that information before we submit. I'm waiting to hear what they come back with. Please don't feel pressured to submit your very personal information over email before you hear from me.

Not should I take the crap from NCC as it has been dished. Rob randomly wrote on this and now Im being attacked by you too?!

To be clear. Please do not communicate to Rob without me / Colleen CC-ed. It's not okay for you to escalate your problems with the staff directly to our customer without running your thoughts / questions through us first. Paula asked for 20 hours to do the initial configuration on our server and she has not had 20 hours yet. She was working on this on Friday.

Hi Ed

Please ask NCC remove all references to previous developers from groups where lanids are present. Rob asked me to tell you this on Friday afternoon, along with his many thoughts on how NCC is responding to our simple requests. In summary, he asked:

a) NCC immediately remove all lanids from Salient on all systems
b) NCC stops replying to you and I like they were in high school (this is reference to LeAnn and Paula) – he mentioned if they do this again, he will call a meeting with Paula, Ali, etc and other EPA staff (either that he works with or higher up)
c) He wants much better SLA response times – they should be acting on our EMP requests within 1-2 hours ideally, not as it has been.

Hello Ed,

Rob mentioned to me that NCC needs to remove from all groups on all machines Salient developers and was asked by Rob to inform you of this. Salient is still in Linux groups even though they are most likely to have their access / login revoked when they left.

"Their contract was cancelled and some of those 5 user name need to removed, yesterday. This violates FISMA NIST 800-53 Rev 4 Security Controls on proper user access."

Subject: RE: Push back on Citizenship Verification

Hi All,

I received feedback about the reason behind this 'resubmit' of citizenship verification. Apparently, sometime shortly before CSRA took over this contract, there was a change in the HR onboarding process presumably as part of the CSC/SRA merger. This change included no longer needing citizenship verification documents as they felt the badge form was sufficient enough. Even though Tonya collected and sent the citizenship verification information, CSRA HR did not record or keep any of it. Fast forward to today; the first piece of the merger under GDIT was to verify the citizenship of each employee (go figure) and HR did not have that information for all or most of us that were hired after June, 2017.

All that being said please STILL DO NOT directly email your information. Eric/Jerry/Tonya agree that it's not secure and they're working with the HR team to come up with a better way to bulk collect/securely send the information. Tonya will be sending out information about it as soon as it's solidified (hopefully by COB tomorrow).

If you have additional questions please let me know.

Thanks,

Hi All,

I wanted to let you know that per some concerns of our team members (and my own); I pushed back yesterday with my management on this Citizenship Verification requests we've all been getting.

I've asked that Eric Toliver or his management provide us with a reason behind our lost data as well as confirmation that our data will be safe when we submit the second time. LeAnn and her team felt the same way so they also stated they would like that information before we submit. I'm waiting to hear what they come back with. Please don't feel pressured to submit your very personal information over email before you hear from me.

Thanks,

Hey Jerry,

Just wanted to give you a heads up that we're looking to replace Christian Leckner – he's really gotten out of control with his communications and it's overflowing to the customer at this point. We're working with Dominique on this process.

Personally, I think you should stop making assumptions – Rob just started writing emails and I shouldn't hear this from you.

Not should I take the crap from NCC as it has been dished. Rob randomly wrote on this and now Im being attacked by you too?!

Christian,

To be clear. Please do not communicate to Rob without me / Colleen CC-ed. It's not okay for you to escalate your problems with the staff directly to our customer without running your thoughts / questions through us first. Paula asked for 20 hours to do the initial configuration on our server and she has not had 20 hours yet. She was working on this on Friday.

Hi Ed

Please ask NCC remove all references to previous developers from groups where lanids are present. Rob asked me to tell you this on Friday afternoon, along with his many thoughts on how NCC is responding to our simple requests. In summary, he asked:

a) NCC immediately remove all lanids from Salient on all systems
b) NCC stops replying to you and I like they were in high school (this is reference to LeAnn and Paula) – he mentioned if they do this again, he will call a meeting with Paula, Ali, etc and other EPA staff (either that he works with or higher up)
c) He wants much better SLA response times – they should be acting on our EMP requests within 1-2 hours ideally, not as it has been.

Hello Ed,

Rob mentioned to me that NCC needs to remove from all groups on all machines Salient developers and was asked by Rob to inform you of this. Salient is still in Linux groups even though they are most likely to have their access / login revoked when they left.

"Their contract was cancelled and some of those 5 user name need to removed, yesterday. This violates FISMA NIST 800-53 Rev 4 Security Controls on proper user access."
