Thanks Bill. In the next few days, can you, Marc and (hopefully) Bruce let Nancy and me know what you want to run (i.e., number of articles and title(s)/subject(s))? John

I will contribute and if there is motivation and time, my suggestion is that Bill Goodfellow and Bruce Vigon should be involved. You will have to forgive me for not responding to your earlier email.

Greg and Bruce – We are eager to get at least one article on the oil spill special topic meeting for the next Globe (submittal deadline May 26). I mentioned this to Marc Greenberg in an e-mail that I sent last night. I wasn't necessarily suggesting that he author it (though we'd welcome that). I'm writing to you to get your thoughts on how we should go about getting one or more good stories for the next Globe. Would you let me know please? John

Hi Marc. We'd love to run an article about the oil spill focused topic meeting in the June Globe. We'd need it in four weeks time (26 May). John

I can tell you that the Oil Spill focused topic meeting was a great success and we had over 250 attendees/participants. Major kudos go to all the steering committee members, the SETAC staff, and the Technical Committee for early scoping and input on the structure of the meeting.

Bill Goodfellow, myself, and the SETAC office will be working on a summary in coming weeks, as well as some ideas for followup activities that may include future sessions at annual meetings and Pellston/SETAC Workshops. Hopefully Mike Murray, Mary Ann Ottinger, and Bruce Vigon can fill you in with some highlights and details. Attached is the program that was distributed to attendees as FYI. I'm giving myself about 20% chance of making the call.
