1. INTRODUCTION

A monitoring and reporting program was established in accordance with the Regional Water Quality Control Board's (RWQCB) Waste Discharge Requirements (WDR) for Discharge of Contaminated Soil from the Boeing Realty Corporation C-6 facility in Los Angeles, California (File No. 88-57-033 (99)). During the June 1999 site investigation of Parcel D, approximately 8,200 cubic yards of soil was identified as being impacted by arsenic. This soil was excavated for off-site disposal.

The C-6 facility (Figure 1-1) has been used in the manufacture, storage, and distribution of aircraft parts and components for over 45 years. Storage and distribution operations are active in the eastern portion of the facility, but the northeastern, western, and southern portions of the property are being redeveloped for commercial use. A detailed description and operational history of the C-6 facility are presented in the Parcel D Sampling and Analysis Plan (IESI 1999).

1.1 SITE INVESTIGATION AND DELINEATION SAMPLING

The southeastern corner, Parcel D, is the subject of this WDR monitoring and reporting program. This parcel occupies approximately 8 acres at the southeast corner of the C-6 facility. In the Parcel D investigation, elevated arsenic concentrations were detected in the top samples collected from one of the borings. Following the collection of delineation samples, arsenic was identified at concentrations above background (14 mg/kg) over an area measuring approximately 400 by 200 feet, to a depth of 1.5 feet below ground surface (bgs) with four isolated areas to 2.5 feet bgs (Figure 1-2). Approximately 8,200 cubic yards of arsenic-impacted soil was excavated for off-site disposal. During excavation, the soil was isolated in two separate stockpiles. One stockpile contained soil to be disposed at a Class I landfill, while the other contained soil to be disposed at a Class III landfill. The Class I soil exhibited arsenic concentrations above the total threshold limit concentration (TTLC) of 500 mg/kg or the soluble threshold limit concentration (STLC) of 5 mg/kg. This soil was disposed at Kettleman Hills Landfill in Kettleman City. The Class III soil exhibited arsenic concentrations above the background concentration of 14 mg/kg. This soil was taken to Bradley Landfill in Sun Valley and used as daily cover.

1.2 PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES

The Los Angeles RWQCB has requested documentation of off-site disposal and final backfill locations for all excavated soil. Specifically, the purpose and objectives of this report are:

1. To present the sampling and excavation program followed during the removal of the arsenic-impacted soil
2. To present analytical data from samples collected from the excavated soil
3. To document the final disposition of the excavated soil

2. EXCAVATED SOIL DISPOSED OFF SITE

Approximately 8,200 cubic yards of arsenic-impacted soil was transported and disposed at approved off-site facilities. The following sections present the procedures used in ensuring that all arsenic-impacted soil was excavated and disposed properly.

2.1 EXCAVATION

The excavation was conducted following the procedures outlined in the approved Parcel D Excavation Plan (IESI 1999). Arsenic-impacted soil was excavated from an area measuring approximately 400 by 200 feet to a depth of 1.5 feet bgs, with a few isolated locations extending to approximately 2.5 feet bgs (Figure 1-2 in Section 1). Arsenic-impacted soil, by definition, contains arsenic concentrations greater than the site-specific, health-based remediation goal (HBRG) of 14 mg/kg. The site-specific HBRG is equivalent to the background concentration for arsenic. Excavated soil was placed in two separate stockpiles for disposal. Depending on the concentration of arsenic, soil was disposed either at Kettleman Hills Landfill (Class I) or at Bradley Landfill (Class III).

Prior to excavation, the soil was characterized as follows:

1) Soil was classified as non-RCRA hazardous waste if representative soil samples contained arsenic in total concentrations equal to or greater than its total threshold limit concentration (TTLC) of 500 mg/kg, in accordance with CCR Title 22.

2) Representative soil samples were analyzed for soluble arsenic concentrations using the Waste Extraction Test (WET) if the total concentration of arsenic was equal to or greater than 10 times its soluble threshold limit concentration (STLC) of 5 mg/kg, in accordance with CCR Title 22. Soil was classified as non-RCRA hazardous waste if representative samples contained arsenic in soluble concentrations (based on the WET) equal to or greater than its STLC, in accordance with CCR Title 22.

3) Additionally, representative soil samples that were analyzed using the WET were also analyzed for soluble arsenic concentrations using the Toxicity Characteristic Leaching Procedure (TCLP). None of the TCLP analytical results exceeded the TCLP threshold limit of 5 mg/kg; therefore, none of the soil was characterized as RCRA hazardous waste.

The following table summarizes the types of material and estimated quantities excavated, and identifies the facility to which the soil was transported for disposal.

TYPES AND QUANTITIES OF EXCAVATED SOIL
BOEING C-6 FACILITY, PARCEL D

Soil Type	Approximate Quantity (cubic yards)	Disposition
Non-RCRA hazardous waste	42	Kettleman Hills Landfill
Non-hazardous waste	8,200	Bradley Landfill

The soil characterized as non-RCRA hazardous waste was present in isolated areas and excavated with a back-hoe. After the horizontal and vertical extent of contamination was characterized, all samples with TTLC concentrations above 50 mg/kg were analyzed for soluble arsenic concentrations. Eleven samples exhibited STLC concentrations greater than 5 mg/kg, with the highest detection at 21 mg/kg. The majority of the samples with concentrations exceeding the STLC limit of 5 mg/kg had TTLC concentrations above 200 mg/kg; therefore, as a conservative approach, all soil exhibiting concentrations greater than 100 mg/kg on the side walls and bottoms of the isolated excavation pits was excavated for disposal at Kettleman Hills. The locations of the isolated excavation areas (pits) created during this excavation is presented in Figure 2-1. In addition, any soil determined to have a TTLC greater than 100 mg/kg during confirmation sampling was excavated and stockpiled separately for disposal at Kettleman Hills Landfill.

The soil characterized as non-hazardous waste was excavated for disposal. In four samples arsenic-impacted soil was detected at 2 feet bgs. Four additional pits were excavated to 2.5 feet bgs to remove these deeper impacted areas prior to the excavation of the top 1.5 feet over the remaining arsenic-impacted zone. The excavation of the top 1.5 feet was conducted with the use of a front-loader and a paddle-wheel scraper. This soil was stockpiled for disposal at the Bradley Landfill.

2.2 PLACEMENT OF EXCAVATED SOIL

Soil deemed non-hazardous was stockpiled in a designated area at the southeast corner of Parcel D. Soil characterized as non-RCRA hazardous waste was stockpiled along the eastern border of Parcel D. Since the eastern and southeastern portions of the property do not have a surface cover (i.e., concrete or asphalt), an impermeable plastic sheet was placed on the ground prior to stockpiling. At the end of each working day, an additional plastic sheet was placed and secured over each stockpile to prevent exposure of the soil to the atmosphere.

In addition to the stockpile in the southeast corner of the parcel, five small stockpiles (approximately 8 cubic yards each) were placed on the existing Francisco Street along the northern border of Parcel D. The soil in the stockpiles was excavated from a 25 foot radius of Boring 3 prior to the determination that soil was impacted beyond that extent. It was then determined that a larger area would be required for stockpiling. These stockpiles were underlain and covered with plastic sheets to prevent exposure to the atmosphere. Since this soil was characterized as non-hazardous, soil, it was moved to the stockpile in the southeast corner of the site, which was bound for the Bradley Landfill.

2.3 BACKFILLING

The excavated area is currently being backfilled using soil from Parcel D (if determined to be non-impacted during the Parcel D investigation) and soil imported from non-contaminated sites. All soil imported to the C-6 facility is screened for volatile organic compounds, semi-volatile organic compounds, total petroleum hydrocarbons, pesticides and PCBs, and metals. No sources exhibiting compound concentrations greater than the site-specific HBRGs (IESI 1997) are imported to the site.

2.4 OFF-SITE DISPOSAL

Between July 13 and August 13, 1999, approximately 42 cubic yards of non-RCRA hazardous waste soil was excavated and transported to the Kettleman Hills Landfill for disposal, and approximately 8,200 cubic yards of non-hazardous waste soil was transported to Bradley Landfill to be used as daily cover.

The soil was trucked to the aforementioned disposal facilities using end-dump trucks. Loaded trailers were covered with solid, one-piece tarps during transport of contaminated soil. A detailed description of the disposal program is presented in the Scope of Work developed for the Boeing Realty Alternate Daily Cover Project (Chemical Waste Management 1999). Soil was transported to Bradley Landfill in 546 truckloads. Four truckloads were used to transport the non-RCRA hazardous waste to Kettleman Hills Landfill. The truck manifests for non-hazardous waste and non-RCRA hazardous waste are included in Appendices A and B, respectively.

3. SAMPLING AND ANALYSIS PLAN

Confirmation soil sampling was conducted to ensure that elevated concentrations of arsenic (above the HBRG of 14 mg/kg) did not remain following the excavation activities. A total of 158 confirmation samples were collected during the Parcel D excavation. The results for these samples are summarized in Table 3-1 and the locations are shown on Figure 3-1. All confirmation samples were analyzed for total arsenic.

In addition to the total arsenic analysis, 52 samples were submitted for arsenic STLC and TCLP analyses. Table 3-2 presents these results.
