DEQ has just two immediate outstanding interview requests:

Slight possibility Al Jazeera will also interview DEQ – if so, the angle will be on the science with Keith Johnson and Brian Bolin (nothing in stone).

Also, working with Rob Davis to schedule an interview about Portland Air Toxics Solutions. He requested Sarah Armitage, but we might arrange for Nina to address his questions.

For the media availability on Wed. (11am?), I'm confirming that Keith Johnson and Rebecca Wells-Albers will be on point for questions about soil sampling results.

FYI:

Lynne Terry of The Oregonian has asked OHSU for the web recording of Grand Rounds Wednesday at OHSU where Paul Lewis talked about clinician guidelines. We are cool with the content.

Secondly, Al Jazeera's reporter Diane is also interviewing Tricia Tillman on Monday.
