Yes I am. Sounds like EPA is still negotiating the timeline and participants and the whole Press situation. Have you seen the Wyden letter and the follow up questions? I assume yes, but just in case…

Sorry my update is taking so long. Trying to go through all the emails still. Do you need anything from me for your FAQ? Can you share what you have when you are done or is it internal?

Subject: Big color glass companies

The Big Players in the Color Glass Industry:

- Bullseye Glass Company – Portland, OR
- Uroboros Glass – Portland, OR
- Spectrum Glass Company – Woodinville, WA
  - System 96 – Woodinville, WA (collab btwn spectrum and uroboros)
- Kokomo Opalescent Glass – Kokomo, IN
- The Paul Wissmach Glass Company – Paden City, WV
- Youghiogheny Opalescent Glass company – Connellsville, PA
- Armstrong Glass – Kennesaw, GA

Other information:

- The concern here is ambient impacts at sustained high levels. As a result, the facility surroundings are important both in terms of residences but also schools where a larger population is spending many hours a day near the facilities.

  - Bullseye, Kokomo, Youghiogheny, Armstrong – All in neighborhoods with very close houses. Bullseye is very close to schools. Haven't investigated others.

  - Uroboros and Spectrum are a little farther from houses, but both are within a quarter mile of a school.

  - Wissmach seems to be about a half mile from anything.
