Hi Erica,

You certainly raised a lot of good questions, but we do not have answers to all of them yet. At this time, the schedule/timeline showing on the chart is still preliminary, and we expect to further refine and figure out details including those related to your questions after getting input from the EC at tomorrow's meeting. So if it is ok with you, we will get back to your questions sometime after the EC meeting when we have chance to work on these details.

This being said, I can answer your TAC related questions first because these are what we already started work on. You did remember correctly that the TAC will meeting in workgroups (not necessarily called subcommittee) to work on the CMP update. This step is identified on the chart by the first (left) box on the TAC line. These workgroups will be habitat-specific and led by a TAC member with the most expertise in each habitat. Four habitats, rocky intertidal, sandy shore, pelagic, and wetlands were identified by the TAC that need to have workgroups, and these groups may meet in person or via conference calls in the next two months and report back at the September TAC meeting. As for the CCVA phase 2, the TAC will be involved primarily in advising and reviewing the applied climate change impact scenarios. There is no plan to set up a subcommittee specifically for CCVA phase 2.

I hope these explanations help. But do not hesitate to contact me again if you have further questions.

Best,

Guangyu

Hi Guangyu,

Thanks for sharing this. It's helpful to have this information in one place and makes it easier to digest. I have a few follow-up questions.

1. Will the governing board meetings be extended to provide time for workshops? Basically, will these be working meetings? What do you envision?
2. Is your TAC workshop included here?
3. We should talk about how to incorporate EPA review (both region 9 and HQ) into the timeline. Ideally we are reviewing the document in step with the governing board.
4. How long will the governing board have to review the paper draft new BRP in order for you to present a final draft at the August 2018 meeting?
5. Does the 2018 summer vacation, or any other holidays, present any issues for meeting the schedule?

6. Who will be writing each document? TBF staff? You? That may not matter to the GB, but it's helpful for me how workload is being managed.
7. Can you please define what the CCVA Phase 2 document will be? Is the CCVA phase 2 taking the CCVA that you completed last year and doing a climate change overlay of the CMP? Basically, taking possible climate change impacts (sea level rise, drought, increased flooding etc.) into account for each habitat type?
8. Am I correct in remembering that the TAC is meeting in subcommittees to update the CMP and CCVA phase 2 updates?

Thanks.

Best,

Erica

Sounds good. Can you also share the schedule you are developing for the BRP revision ahead of time?

Thank you.

No problem. Most likely we will call you when the meeting starts as so far you are the only one who needs to call-in. But I will let you know for sure before the meeting.
