Hi Chand and Nathan,

Please find attached the revised land use covenant text for the South Property, which incorporates additional elements related to PCBs and other site-specific information. To facilitate the technical review, we have included a clean version of the text as a word file and a redline PDF version of the text. In addition to the text, attached are the draft exhibits A through D with placeholders for Exhibits E (data tables and sample location maps) and F (PCB required elements and the soil management plan). The draft LUC for the North Property will follow as a separate email.

The revised Soil Management Plan (SMP), which addresses comments provided by EPA and DTSC by email, along with a summary of the response to comments will be provided in a separate email due to the file sizes.

Once you all have reviewed the revised SMP, we should set up a call to discuss any additional comments and the overall timing/schedule for both documents.

Thank you, Linda
