Dear Mr Washburn,

A fire continues to burn in Bridgeton Municipal landfill in Bridgeton, MO. There has been at least one previous fire, close to the radioactive materials illegally dumped at the adjacent West Lake landfill. Landfill fires happen. There is no way to fully protect the public from the potential effects of landfill fire meeting radioactive materials. The radioactive materials must be removed from these landfills to protect the public - which is the EPA's mandate. It has to go.

Thank You,
Carolyn Coyne, SLP-CCP MA
