Attached is a high level summary that came out just after the opinion was announced. In the next few days I assume legal analysts on SCOTUSblog will have a more detailed analysis which may be of interest. It would be posted on the following site: https://www.scotusblog.com/case-files/cases/mcgirt-v-oklahoma/

Subject: Supreme Court - OK reservation case

(Bcc to TPMs)

Today is the final day of the current Supreme Court term and the Court issued its decision in McGirt v. Oklahoma, finding that the Muscogee Creek Reservation was never diminished. Justice Gorsuch authored the 5-4 opinion, his reasoning is based in his finding that Congress never explicitly terminated the Reservation. You can find a link to the decision below, we will see if we can have a discussion on the implications of the case on an upcoming TPM call.
