Thank you for the review and edits, I appreciate the quick turnaround. I will note that I pulled the list of bullets from the PID webpage. If we go forward with the edits to the list, we may want to update the webpage so there is no confusion. We also could easily strike the list and go with the following (PRD comments accepted) -

Draft OPP Update

EPA Reopens Public Comment Period on Proposed Interim Decisions for Neonicotinoids

Today, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is reopening the public comment period on the proposed interim decisions for acetamiprid, clothianidin, dinotefuran, imidacloprid, and thiamethoxam.

In response to requests submitted by stakeholders seeking a comment extension due to time constraints and delays, EPA is reopening the public comment period. Upon publication of the Federal Register notice, the agency invites comments on the proposed interim decisions for 30 days. After reviewing public input, EPA will issue the interim decisions.

EPA first announced availability of the proposed interim decisions for the neonicotinoid pesticides on January 30, 2020. The proposed interim decisions contain new measures to reduce potential ecological risks, particularly to pollinators and aquatic invertebrates, and to protect public health.

More information available on EPA's proposed interim decisions for neonicotinoids.

Hello Carissa,

Yes, the email that you've forwarded is for a FR Notice that will announce the re-opening of the public comment period for the neonicotinoids. That email also states that the FR Notice will publish on May 19, 2020, and the public comment period will be re-opened for an additional 30 days from that date. The agency received comments requesting additional time to provide comments to the agency because of recent time constraints and delays. For this reason, the agency is re-opening the comment period.

Please let me know if you have additional questions or concerns,

Best,

Matt

Good morning and happy Friday Matt,

I hope you're having a great week. Is PRD reopening the comment period for the neonic PIDs? If so, do you know why and how long the new comment period will be open for?

Thank you,

Carissa
