Here is the comment:
I saw your presentation yesterday, and I seen a point that you made saying that the aqu- -- the water that you found underneath is undrinkable. Yeah, maybe undrinkable to humans, but it's not undrinkable to the earth. It's not undrinkable to the soil. It's not undrinkable to the plants or the rivers that it will be flowing into. We need water.

How about:

I'm trying to figure out the entirety of what we have. Please see attached and let me know if this captures all of what we are working with. If it is, then I will review this and try and make it flow.
