I can call Mike (or Scott can call Jonathan Edwards) today and see if they know anything about Power Tech. We should let Reid know as well.

We can then offer a briefing for them if they want.

I think from a technical POV this will be pretty cut and dry. However, from a political POV we should probably brief Mike. What do you think.

Thanks, Shaun. I was aware that there were a handful of permits pending for these types of operations.

I'll check with Mike Flynn to see whether it makes sense to get people together. Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Janet,

This is the second of 2 emails re: Powertech. Below is information I got back re: coordination between R8 and OAR (which doesn't sound too extensive).

Let me know if you have questions or would like to discuss. Also, if it makes sense for us do a briefing for you and your team, we can sure set that up.

Shaun:

Here is the info that Scott sent me related to conversations the air program has had with HQ related to the PowerTech project and its eventual need to comply with Subpart W. As you will see, there have been interactions at the staff level, but no direct/overt conversations with OAR managers.

I will caveat that by saying that Reid R. is the national lead on this issue and I can't imaging his management chain is not aware of the PowerTech project. However, we have never formally briefed OAR managers to the best of my knowledge.

If I am wrong -- Air folks please correct me.

Thanks

Callie,

The ORIA staff person in charge of the Subpart W rule revision, Reid Rosnick, is aware of the interactions we've had with PowerTech on the Subpart W specific issues. He, Angelique, and the OGC attorney that supports ORIA on the rulemaking (Sue Stahle) were coordinating whenever interactions with PowerTech took place.

Most recently, PowerTech representatives came in to meet with us on April 29, 2014. The meeting was primarily focused on the compliance of their proposed ponds with Subpart W, both the current reg. and proposed. Reid was unable to make that meeting but Angelique provided him with the attached notes afterward. Also, Sue Stahle attended the meeting.

We do not know how far within ORIA or OGC that this has been elevated by Reid or Sue. PowerTech submitted oral comments at the Subpart W public hearing here in our building on September 4. Two upper level ORIA managers were hearing officers and would have heard their comments then. PowerTech also submitted written comments on the proposal.

Hope this helps. Please let me know if you have any questions or need anything else.

Scott:

Shaun exchanged some info with the Administrator this weekend related to our UIC related meeting this week with PowerTech. Because of the development of the new requirmeents under Subpart W, the Administrator wanted to make sure that HQ ORA folks on the new reg development knew about our work on the PowerTech proposal.

Can you please let me know what kind of coordination we have already done with HQ related to the site. Who knows about it? What do they know – etc.

Shaun would like to respond to the Administrator soon – so a quick reply would be much appreciated.

Thanks
