RE: Spokane Tribe of Indians Letter to EPA in support of veto of Pebble Mine 404 permit

Dear Chairwoman Evans:

Thank you for your correspondence dated July 20, 2020, about the proposed Pebble Mine in the Bristol Bay watershed in Alaska.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is responsible for making a final permit decision on the Pebble Project pursuant to Clean Water Act Section 404. This decision includes determinations of compliance with the Corps permit regulations and the CWA Section 404(b)(1) Guidelines. These Guidelines are used to evaluate proposed discharges of dredged and fill material into waters of the United States. The EPA provided comments and input to the Corps under our Section 404 authorities during several meetings and in letters dated July 1, 2019, and May 28, 2020. The EPA will continue working with the Corps throughout its review of this proposed project.

The Corps issued a Final Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act on July 24, 2020. The Final EIS evaluates impacts of the proposed project and will be used to inform the CWA Section 404 permitting decision. The EPA has participated in the NEPA process as a cooperating agency for several years. The EPA submitted comments on the Draft EIS in a letter dated July 1, 2019, and continues to review documents developed during the NEPA process, including the Final EIS. The next step in the process is for the Corps to issue a Record of Decision, which will lay out the Corps' findings and permit decision.
