I've just done my first set of inspections for compliance with subpart OOOOa (oil and gas wells). That's what I like about this job, always something new to learn.

Lots of new rules down here, many more industries to deal with. Everyone seems to be HAPS major which if I recall in Alaska we may have had one or two☺

Well, it's a small world after all! Welcome back to the regulator world, Wally.

I handle asbestos calls from contractors and building owners in ID every day, so I'm sure we'll be talking and working together soon. My colleague in the R10 Seattle Office also takes calls from your State. Her name is Roylene Cunningham. (206) 553-0513.

Hi John surprise surprise!!! Well I am working at the Idaho State Dept. of Environmental Quality. I was in a meeting this morning with Zach Klotovich regarding Asbestos notifications and low and behold your name came up. I guess as part of my new job I will be taking over the asbestos reports that come into our office.
It is good to get back into the regulatory world as it is at a different pace than the private sector. Idaho seems to have their act together on compliance.
I tried retirement (or semi-retirement) and really like a lot of it but definitely missed being a productive member of society ☺. I am glad to be back and look forward to chatting with you from time to time.
When are you retiring? I thought it would be by now.

Take care and talk to you soon.
