Hi Milton,

Thanks again for checking-in, I really appreciate it. Sorry I didn't get back to you yesterday, I wanted to wait until after our meeting with the FEATLO(?) FOIA people beforehand. At the moment I believe we are still okay. As a status update, we are awaiting feedback from the FOIA people on next steps. They did request the original eDiscovery search parameters, as well as the more accurate amended parameters which you've already provided. We were having issues hearing back from (Ex. 5 Attorney Client/AC) regarding their responsive documents so we are hoping for some progress there as well. Thanks again, and let me know if there's any way I can return the favor -

John

Hey Milton,

Thanks for checking-in I appreciate it! Things are moving forward here on out end, currently no issues with Relativity/FOIA online at the moment. Due to some confusion regarding Personally Identifiable Information (PII), I am unfortunately still going through these documents for redactions so the today deadline isn't going to be met. There are some folks from OGC coming tomorrow to help clarify what exactly needs/doesn't need to be redacted. Thanks again for following up, I'll let you know if we can use your help with anything -

Hi Marcia,

Thanks for sending these over for us to take a look at. I will try to give a relatively short answer rather than address each attachment individually, but happy to do that if it will help you or jump on another call to talk it through.

The search and collection tool that we use searches for the exact phrase that is in quotation marks. I have copied your original keywords below. Anything within quotation marks must be an exact match to what is in the document in order to be considered responsive. For example, in the first attachment that is titled "Re: Customer Query" that was sent on 10/12/2017, the following phrase appears: NSPS OOOOa annual reporting. That phrase is not responsive based on the terms provided below. Please see that the phrase given below is OOOOa Annual Reports. Those two phrases are not an exact match, since one says "annual reporting" and the other says "annual reports." The terms seem similar, but our search tool does not consider them to be the same. This is the same reason why many of the attached emails were not responsive to the search.

Please also note that for the highlighted portion of the keywords below, a document would not be considered responsive unless it contained the phrase "new source performance standards for the oil and gas sector Subpart OOOOa" AND one of the terms within parentheses below. So a document containing just the word "comply" or "compliance" is not responsive to this search because it does not also contain the other phrase.

I hope this helps. We also received a new request from you yesterday for the same FOIA number - was the new request meant to help capture more documents? Please also do reach out to OGC regarding what may be necessary or advisable in terms of additional searching to try to capture the emails you have attached here. I have cc'd Milton Robinson here, who is also a good resource and may be able to help further answer any questions. Milton, please jump in if I have missed anything!

I am hoping you might look at these and see why they did not show up in the search. They appear to me to have the responsive search terms. Thanks.
