Subject: RE: LINDA/OPP: INVESTIGATE MIDWEST - Guidance on FIFRA 24(c) Registrations

Hi everyone,

Please review the changes below in red. Thanks--

1. What led to the EPA re-evaluating this registration?

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

2. Why would requests that "narrow the federal label, such as to add a more restrictive cut-off date, to add training and certification requirements, or to restrict the use directions by limiting the number of treatments permitted by the federal label," fall outside the appropriate use of Special Local Needs (SLN) registrations?

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

3. If a state cannot narrow the federal label, what can SLNs be used for?

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

4. Was any outside organization consulted in this decision? Academic experts, industry groups, associations, registrants, other government agencies?

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

5. Did a specific incident or request spur the agency to re-evaluate these requests?

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

6. Is there any where I can review the 24(c) requests that are made to the EPA every year?

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

I added some feedback in red. Bob – it would be helpful if we chatted briefly.

Here is the draft response to another press inquiry on 24(c). I used some of the same answers from the previous press inquiry. Please review by noon tomorrow, particularly for the highlighted sections. Thanks!

Colleagues, another one. Thanks in advance, R.

Hello,

I'm working on a story about the newly announced re-evaluation by the EPA of FIFRA 24(c) SLN registrations:

https://www.epa.gov/pesticide-registration/guidance-fifra-24c-registrations

Could someone from the EPA who's been involved in this decision be made available for an interview this week? I have a deadline of Friday, noon CST.

1. What led to the EPA re-evaluating this registration?
2. Why would requests that "narrow the federal label, such as to add a more restrictive cut-off date, to add training and certification requirements, or to restrict the use directions by limiting the number of treatments permitted by the federal label," fall outside the appropriate use of Special Local Needs (SLN) registrations?
3. If a state cannot narrow the federal label, what can SLNs be used for?
4. Was any outside organization consulted in this decision? Academic experts, industry groups, associations, registrants, other government agencies?
5. Did a specific incident or request spur the agency to re-evaluate these requests?
6. Is there any where I can review the 24(c) requests that are made to the EPA every year?

Let me know. I'd still rather speak to someone, if that is possible, but I understand the time limitations.

Let me know.

Thanks,

CW
