I will put it on the calendar. Never thought I would ever have my mind slow down to the point I need reminders.

Dear Holly:

It is Friday.

I have a few things to discuss but we can wait if your week is getting full. Fridays does seem to be the day for forest fires.

Things I would like to talk about or at least begin a conversation on are:

1. Increasing the detail of the dissolved oxygen criterion to include a "refuge zone" below the metalimnion at the top of the hypolimnion.
    a. Must admit I like the idea but I am a bite weary about surviving a backsliding accusation from national. A dog is most reliable if the action is imprinted – I dog.
2. Added a physical description to the lake classification and beginning a process to properly "Class" lakes.
3. Secondary recreational criteria
