Well, it's only 20 pages, but then again this is the preliminary version.

BTW: I think Barbara may have chocolate to donate.

Dear Kate and rest of group,

As I mentioned last week, I have reviewed the formaldehyde assessment as a "peer reviewer" as well as giving comments on my initial assignment. I have more general comments and specific ones written as a memo for the TPW and formaldehyde authors to consider. I attach them below.

Hi all,

First, a very hearty thanks to our lead reviewers— Jason F, Jane, and Janice—who all did an excellent job reviewing the formaldehyde MOA sections! I also thank everyone who participated in the very cordial discussion today—the lead reviewer "J's", plus Jason L, Dan, Nagu, Catherine, Arthur, and Margaret. We also really appreciated having the participation of Barbara, Andrew and Deborah. We thank them for being very open to our input and for the valuable insights they provided. And.. thanks to Vince for joining too! ☺

I'm appending here the bulleted comments from Jason and Janice; Jane has stated that she concurs with these. I will forward any additional written comments from Jane as soon as available. Below I have provided a few bullets from my notes at the meeting; workgroup members, please add/edit.

Formaldehyde team: we thought it prudent to share these comments as soon as possible (considering your very tight timeline for completing the assessment). We would like your input on what may be the most helpful regarding our next steps, which may include:

- We can provide additional detail on the review comments (e.g., in the Word documents or by adding comment bubbles).
- We can work with your team to help implement some of the critical aspects of our suggestions.
- We can review further revisions.
- Anything else, do let us know.

Any questions, don't hesitate to ask. I'm here tomorrow (and beyond…) if you'd like to discuss.
Thanks again,
Kate
