When I get a minute to distill these I will, but I wanted to share my first cut with you in case you want to mull it over today. Apologies again for the stream of conversation style, I type fastest that way unless I get lost like the last call – it was my bad on that, I hadn't reviewed the papers beforehand and was completely unsure of what we wound up discussing in that second pre-brief so those notes were more of a hot mess than normal which is why I had to stop just to try to catch the thread again and I couldn't.

Please let me know when you'd like a cleaned up version from me.

Best wishes,
Emma

Thanks everyone for listening in and trying to distill what was determined. In some cases I think we're still going forward with more than one option. We can do that, just more writing. Megan, happy to get together with you to walk through the retained waters as that discussion was a bit all over and what needs to be done less than perfectly clear.....

I also will be ready to go on notes this time. I studied more since the last call ☺

Subject: Notes for today's options selection call

Hi Emma and Meghan--

Kathy and I were just chatting to prep for the options selection. If you're available and would like to do so, it would be helpful if you take notes (I will also take notes). As it can be hard to follow the discussion, with many people on the line, just do your best. I'd suggest focusing mostly what the group "concurrence" or "agreement" is on each option,(if you can tell what that is), as well as follow up actions and issues, and not as necessary to capture all the nuances of the discussion (which can be hard, as it was in the pre-brief).

Thanks, and hope this works for you!

Ruth
