Hi Eileen,

Here are some bullets on a release strategy that I have been working with Ronna and Josh on. It needs Anne/Jeff's and you a George's input.

- ARD provides briefing to stakeholders that were part of the pre-monitoring briefing to discuss results and steps forward (including Durbin's office, environmental groups, Amtrak and Metra)
- Publish the webpage with data and report later that day
- OEC sends the link and a brief release statement, and offers an interview to reporter Dave Savini as well as to Hawthorne, and potentially tweet a link to the web page with the report.

Michael Compher has the final report copy with George's comments as well as some final formatting. I will send the desk statement and website Q&As for you and George to review today - they have gone through Ronna, Josh, Mary, and Mary Pat. Once you both are finished editing, we can send all the documents to John Peterson for a final review, and then give all the final versions to Allison to update the webpage. This all can be finalized this week if you want, and potentially send out the invite for a briefing in a week or two (Michael any thoughts on timing?)

Let me know what else you need or want for George's meeting with the RA.

CP

Anne,
The communication strategy got sidelined due to other priorities, but the report is close to being final. Let's pick up this discussion next week.

George, Josh and all- I think there is an ARD-approved draft communication strategy somewhere out there which includes a Q&A ... let's discuss who/when/how to respond. Thanks.
