Report of Incident Notifications

Chemical Spill, Charleston WV - On January 9, 2014 no more than 5,000 gallons of the chemical 4-methycyclohexane methanol leaked through a secondary containment area at a Freedom Industries chemical plant and into the Elk River in Charleston, WV (NRC#1070627.). West Virginia water authorities have issued a "Do Not Use Water Notice" for 10 and a Presidential Emergency Declaration of emergency covers eight counties. The West Virginia Emergency Operations Center is fully activated and the state has activated their Health Operations Center. The FEMA Region III Regional Response Coordination Center (RRCC) is activated and the FEMA Region III Liaison Officer and Incident Management Assistance Team have been deployed. One EPA OSC located at the scene, another is en route. A mission assignment has been issued to staff the ESF-10 desk Regional Response Coordination Center (RRCC) in Philadelphia; a R3 representative is staffing that desk.

Burlington Ditch Sheen, Commerce City, CO - NRC #1070633 January 9, 2014. On the morning of January 9 a sheen was reported in the Burlington Ditch, Commerce City, CO prompting an EPA Region 8 OSC to be deployed to the site. The OSC met with CDPHE Water Quality and Hazardous Waste personnel, the Suncor VP of Refining and the Suncor Environmental Director. Working together, they investigated several miles of the Burlington Ditch. A very small amount of sheen was found near the Suncor property. A larger sheen was identified later in the evening approximately 1 mile downstream of the Suncor facility. As a precautionary measure the OSC had the ERRS contractor place both hard and absorbent boom in the ditch, completing installation around midnight. As of 11:00 AM MT the OSC is on site meeting with CDPHE, Suncor and ERRS to continue investigation into how best to address the sheen, and to continue to investigate the source, which has not been determined at this time.

There were 40 epaosc.org websites created and/or updated during this reporting period (1/09/14-1/10/14).
