2021-06-14	2021-11-30	Iron Mountain Mine Superfund Site, Redding, Shasta County, California	Primary travel will be conducted by Brian Milton as the lead RPM for this project. However, this is a blanket travel approval request for the EPA oversight program of the Iron Mountain Mine Brick Flat Pit Partial Dam Raise Project which will include a number of individuals from the SFD7, SFD6, and SFD8 branches and will span the duration of the summer and fall, through at least October 2021. 			determined as the project progresses. Although the general project schedule is known many specifics cannot be determined until a three-week lookahead is submitted by the construction contractor. Based on this lookahead travel dates may need to shift and then shift again based on real field progress. This progress is also assessed during a standing weekly meeting with the construction contractor. A blanket travel approval will allow EPA employees the necessary flexibility to travel as needed to perform in-person oversight of this critical construction project. There will also be a number of events (a minimum of two) where there will be more than four (possibly up to ten) EPA staff traveling to the Site at the same time. The reason this is necessary is that we are developing an oversight program that allows for staff to take on "shifts" of oversight spread out over the summer and fall in order to fulfill our minimum oversight requirement for the project. The minimum oversight requirement for this project is two days of oversight per two-week period, most frequently split into one weekly trip of a minimum of one day. In order to effectively and efficiently bring EPA staff that will perform oversight up to speed, site visits with the primary RPM Brian Milton will be a requirement. This one-day overlap will provide crucial training so that the EPA employee can understand the project, be briefed on health and safety, and become familiar with the logistics of site access. Splitting these training events into smaller trips would still require overlapping EPA staff travel, and so for efficiency it has been determined that a fewer number of trips with larger groups of people will be more appropriate. COVID safety protocols will be in place to ensure adequate social distancing, driving of individual vehicles, gathering in outdoor spaces only, etc.
