Here are the rest of my comments. Key ones are:

1) wherever possible use language on reasonsing, justifications, etc from things we've already published in the FR or other public places
2) keep new langauge on TWG alternative (other than the BART part) to a minimum
3) the "math" section on why the TWG alternative is BtB is tough to follow. I suggest showing more of the math, including our original numbers and explaining how the new cap level comes from the earlier cap level. I also suggest first explaining what emission reductions the TWG alternative gets, then go into how sure we are that they will occur, and then explaining why they are BtB

Overall, this is well-written and good!

Redaction: internal agency, pre-decisional deliberative communication
