I received a call yesterday from William Wallace, the Emergency Manager of Bourbon County, Kansas about this crude oil facility and another release that begins in Missouri and travels across the state line into Kansas. We have responded 4 separate times since 2016, the latest in June of 2020. That report is attached.

I have also attached the next most recent report from 2017 that includes an EPA assessment.

The question posed is whether this facility has any active permits in Missouri and what we might be able to do going forward to compel the company to better prevent these releases rather than simply respond after they happen. I believe some of this has been answered before, but the landowner is concerned about these releases that continue to occur. As I understand they do fall under SPCC regulations due to their crude oil storage.

Renee, It has been a while since we talked. I have some more oil tank battery issues. I received these pictures from Brian Wade. He lives by those tanks and oil pumps up in the region of Bourbon county that we have had a lot of troubles out of for several years. If you would like to view these locations please let me know.

Thanks,

William Wallis
