Thank you for the notification. We will start taking steps immediately to comply as requested.
It is not clear when the effective date of this EPA's revised interpretation of the meaning of 'continuous furnace' is. As I pointed out in a previous message to several of you, we are concerned we may be forced into an 'out of compliance' status by this new permitting requirement until DEQ and EPA can process and approve a completed permit. This would be extremely unfair to otherwise law abiding companies, since this is a sudden change that is simply impossible to comply with overnight.
I again request that you allow enough time for the permits to be applied for and processed before the effective date of this change.
Sincerely,
Eric Lovell
