Thanks, Lynn.

From our conversations, I knew that you were going to do the additional data collection, etc., and would eventually update the DABP accordingly, but just had to do the formal comments since the draft DABP for review came out slightly before some of the recent decisions. Appreciate your keeping me updated on the science points along the way.

Regards,
Walter

Thank you Walter!

Your edits and comments are always very helpful and lead to a much better product.

Regarding collecting additional emissions data and review to support thresholds in the proposed rule, I am submitting a work assignment for contractor support. One of the Tasks will include support for technical background document(s). I plan to task/issue technical direction to the contractor to conduct a literature search and review, starting with studies submitted (or referenced in comments) during the comment period for both the poultry petition (2005) and the 2008 Final Rule. I will also have the contractor fill in with other studies as appropriate and prioritize based on peer review and quality assurance guidelines. The thought is that we should give a serious look and consideration at what was submitted during the first round (the least the commenters should expect), but also not completely rely on it if there is additional or "better" data/study sources available.

Would appreciate your input on the development of the technical direction in the next couple of weeks.

Attached is the detailed analytic blueprint for the CERCLA/ECPRA Reporting Requirements for Air Releases of Hazardous Substances from Animal Waste at Farms NPRM (Tier 2, SAN 5484). Please provided your AA/RA-level concurrence to me (cc Lynn Beasley and Richard Mattick) by no later than 5/25 (sooner would be great!). For the detailed analytic blueprint stage, only two levels of concurrences are possible: concur or concur with comment. Attached also are: (1) a list of people who have been delegated to concur for the AA/RA on detailed analytic blueprint; (2) workgroup list; and (3) a redlined/strikeout version of latest changes.

Let me know if you have any questions or concerns. Thanks.
