Hi,

I just received another call from Congressman Courtney's staff. He is going to be in New London tomorrow from 1 to 5. He and his staff were calling concerning the timing of our release regarding Eastern Long Island Sound. I had explained earlier and explained again that the time of the release is unclear at this time; they understand a number of things need to be completed prior to the release. I promised to share information as soon as it was available and appropriate.

Alexa, also reached out to other offices, but received a lot of out of office messages. This is as we expected.

I asked and Alexa agreed to share their advisory, if they choose to do an event, with us to be sure that there are no issues created or inappropriate statements. I will share anything I receive with each of you.

I also talked with Senator Whitehouse staff, Karen Bradbury. She was thankful for the contact.

Thanks.

Mel, Jeannie, Mark,

I was able to reach both Alexa (Congressman Courtney's staff) and Monica (Senator Reed's staff). Actually, when I returned to my desk from our briefing I had a call waiting for me from Alexa; she was calling regarding the Eastern Long Island Sound siting process? I let her and Monica know that Curt would be signing the document on Friday and that we would be sending out a press release. I promised to share appropriate information as I received it. They understand that materials will likely be posted on Monday. Both appreciated the call and are grateful that the process is moving forward. A conference call was discussed; they seem to think a conference call would be useful, but understood that a lot need to be completed before Friday so they mentioned Monday or Thursday of next week as possible dates. Both will get back to me after material is shared.

Thanks.
