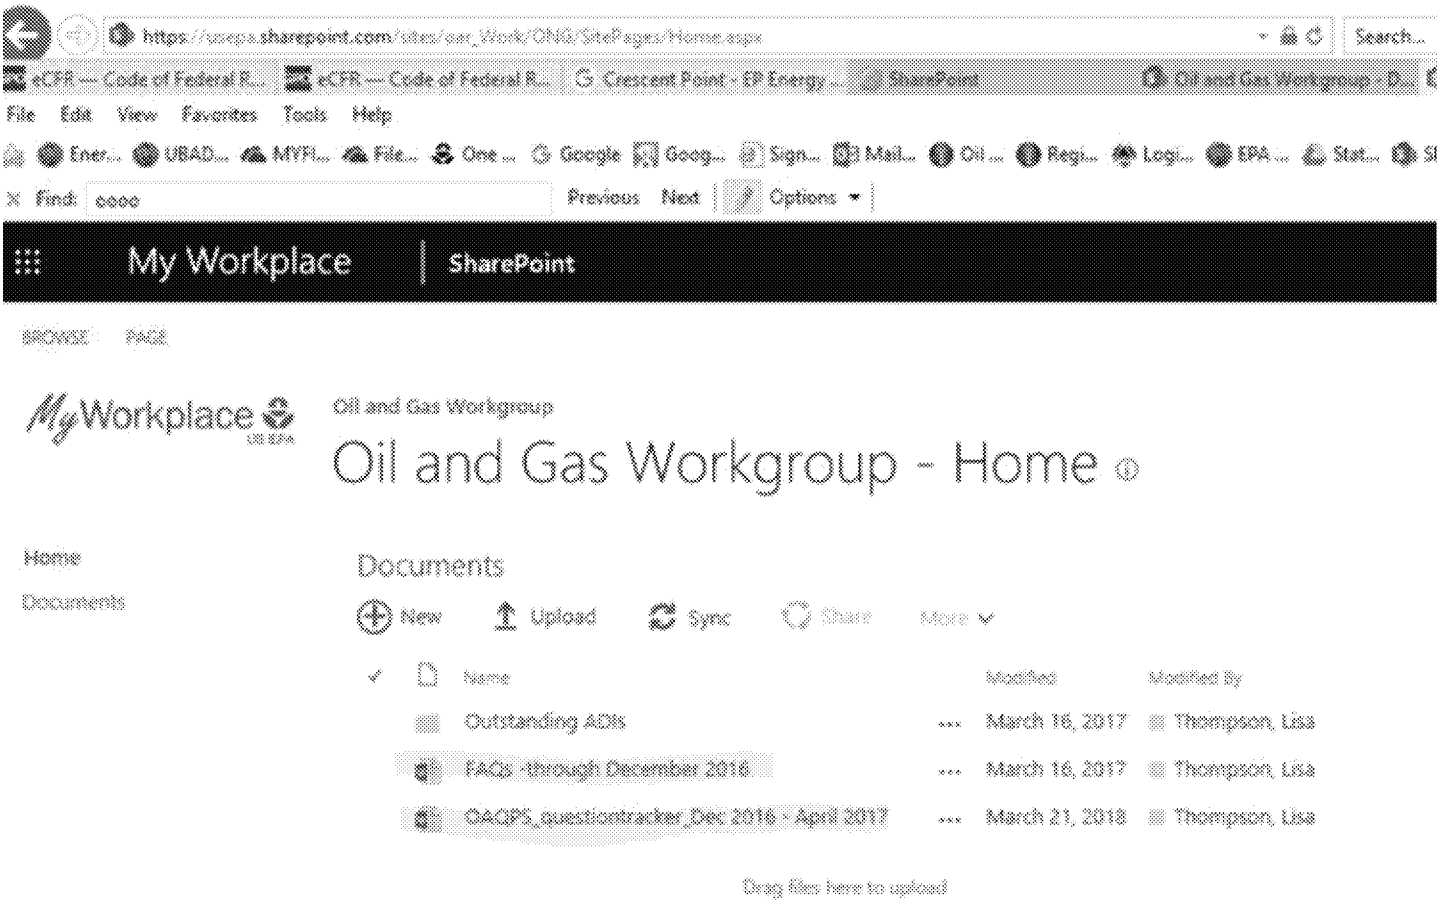
Hi Cindy and Greg,

I want to check back in with both of you on this compiled question document. What do you think we should do with this next? I outline some of my thoughts below:

- I am glad to have everything in one place and I am not so worried about duplicates at this time. I'm satisfied with this document as is. Do you think it needs more work at this time?
- I think this will be a good reference for us all to have and we can use as a memory refresher for the May 2016-February 2018 time period
- (as needed and time appropriate) I think we can use this format and start a new internal FAQ as we move forward post reconsideration and policy final amendments.
- House on broader OG national workgroup sharepoint https://usepa.sharepoint.com/sites/oar_Work/ONG/SitePages/Home.aspx



Thanks,

Amy

Hey Cindy,

I've attached where I compiled all of the OAQPS tracker questions. I still need to sift through it to remove anything we might consider duplicative, but, everything should be in here. I added the additional disclaimer as well as a key to discern which source the comments came from. Let me know if you have any questions or if there's anything I can do to help.

Cheers,

Amy & Greg –

I'm just checking on whether Greg had a chance to pull any questions from the OAQPS tracker from May 2017 onwards?

We've got a OOOOa question in on midstream compressor station applicability from UDAQ and I wanted to check our compiled history.

Thanks,

Thanks Cindy. Greg Ferguson here is going to help pull any questions from the OAQPS tracker from May 2017 onwards.. I don't think there will be a lot. It will be good to have all the history of this in one place. Let us know if we can help in any way on the compiling end.

Fair enough.

I'm not going to spend any more time on this for the time being. Though, for when I'm ready to pick this up again and perhaps try Amy's approach of demarcating Q&As by time, I have uploaded document #3 ("OOOOOOOOa_Snapshot of Oil & Gas FAQ 11-10-16" + recent additions … now named "OOOOOOOOa_Implementation_FAQ.docx") onto the OAQPS Oil & gas SharePoint site so we can keep work to-date on implementing OOOO/OOOOa together in one place.

Good point but I wonder if when combined there is a way to demarcate the Q/A by date range so a person could tell quickly if something is out of date?

My only concern would be that some of these responses will no longer be valid pending the final technical rule.

HI Cindy,

I hope you are well. Sorry for the slow reply….

1) Are these two documents separate and unique?

Yes, these are separate and unique.

2) I'd like our group to work from a single doc for ease of searchability – do you recommend I combine these two?

If I recall correctly the FAQ document was originally done because we were going to put it on the public web site. When new administration came, we were told we could no longer do that. The FAQ's as you can see are scrubbed and dolled up for a public appearance. The question tracker December 2016-April 2017, were converted to a word for broader OG team (thanks to Lisa Thompson !) so we could have internal consistency—you can see they are rougher in appearance. At this point I don't see the harm in combining, but it may be good to caveat it. + Karen to see if she has concerns with combining these for internal uses.

It's been a while since I've checked the OAQPS question tracker. We may have questions in there from April 2017 onward. We can get someone here to check that and convert to a word doc. to add if you want. Let me know.

3) Shall we use this SharePoint site to house a single, updateable working document of Q&As?

I think you can. I think Lisa originally created this site for the broader national workgroup to use.

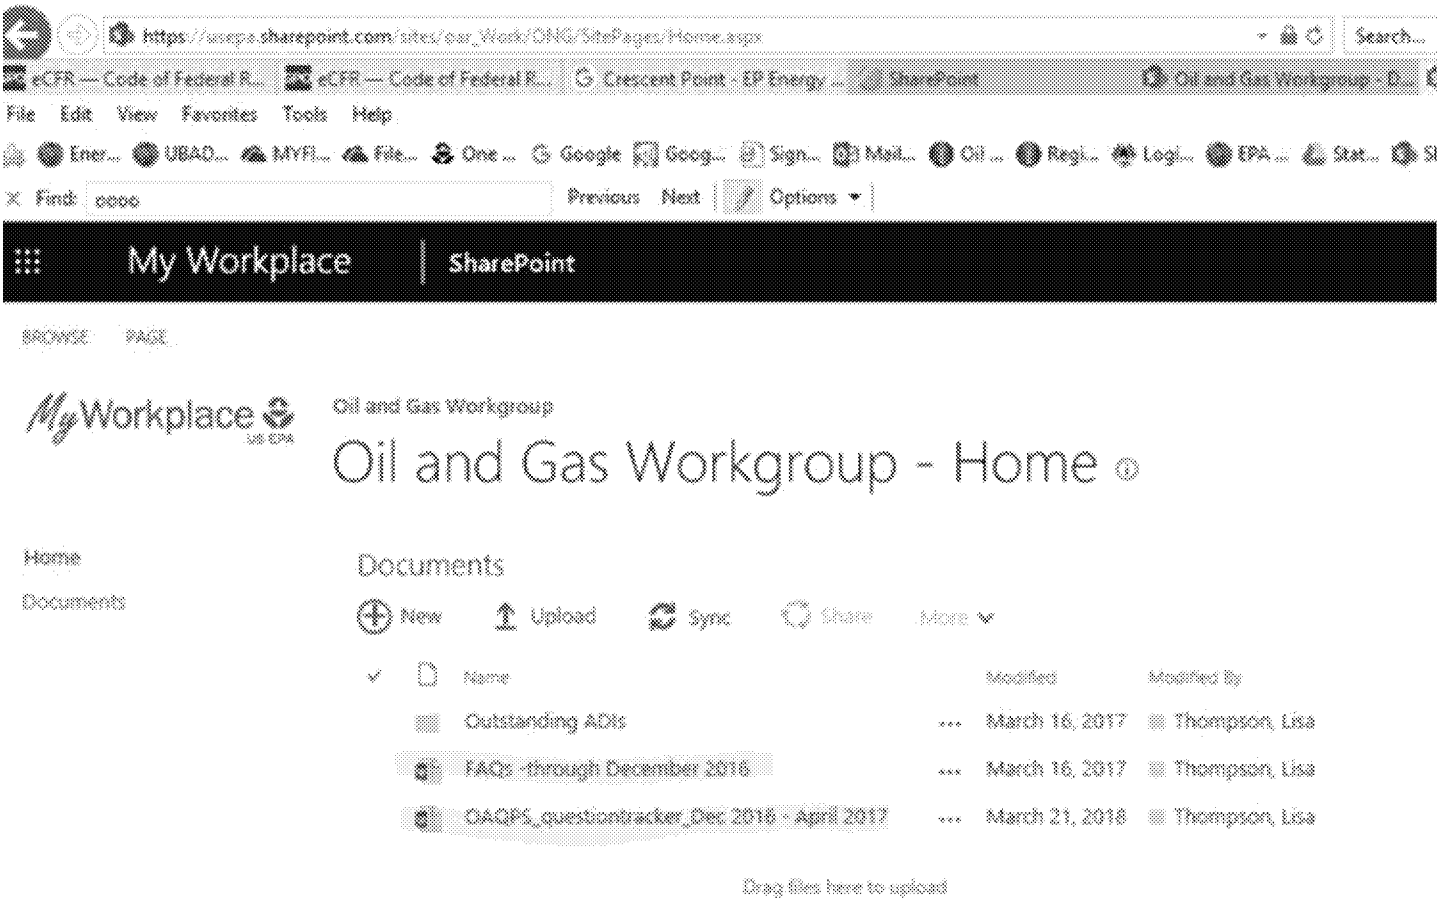
Amy –

The OOOO/OOOOa Implementation workgroup formed to help us improve consistency of responses across the agency and increase efficiency by avoiding duplicative efforts in answering enquiries about this rule.

We've been remiss in tracking Q&As of late, so I'd like to resume. I found Bruce Moore's old document, "OOOOOOOOa_Snapshot of Oil & Gas FAQ 11-10-16.docx", then added a table of contents and recent Q&As.

Then Marcia Mia and Natalie Topinka pointed me to the "Oil and Gas Workgroup" SharePoint site – see below:
https://usepa.sharepoint.com/sites/oar_Work/ONG/SitePages/Home.aspx



"FAQs – through December 2016" is 43 pages and "OAQPS_questiontracker_Dec 2016 – April 2017" is 17 pages.

I wanted to check in with you about:

1) Are these two documents separate and unique?
2) I'd like our group to work from a single doc for ease of searchability – do you recommend I combine these two?
3) Shall we use this SharePoint site to house a single, updateable working document of Q&As?

If this is easier just to talk about please call me at your convenience!

Thanks, Amy.
