Shawn,

Before responding to your email below, Ecology needed to understand the Muckleshoot's positon on use of tribal consumption rates and early life exposure factors in the cPAH risk calculations for the Quendall Terminals site.

To that end, we met with Glen St. Amant yesterday to hear his perspective. We had a productive exchange of information and Glen plans to confer with his policy group over the next two weeks.

Please know that we support EPAs cleanup efforts. However, we need to understand the Muckleshoot's positon. And, if their position differs from the current Proposed Plan, if EPA would modify the plan accordingly.

We'll be in touch once we hear from Glen.

Regards,

Bob

Bob;

Here is language we propose that "should" address Ecology's concerns. We went as far as we think we can. Please let me know at the soonest if this isn't enough so that we can elevate this for resolution. We are willing to entertain counter language within the constraints you and Tamara are aware of, but I don't want to get in the do-loop of continuous counter proposals, if you know what I mean. I need to get to a decision point asap.

Here you go, new language is inserted related to risk.
