INVITEES

San Francisco Department of Public Health	Office of Community Infrastructure and Investment
• Tomás J. Aragón - Director, Population Health Division • Amy Brownell, Hunters Point Staff • Rachael Kagan, Director, Communications • Stephanie Cushing, Director, Environmental Health	• Nadia Sesay, Executive Director • Kasheica McKinney, Hunters Point Project Manager

PARCEL A

- The regulators met again last week to further discuss potential avenues for testing inside SF Shipyard homes. No decisions have been made. We plan to meet in mid-November when Laura Duchnak of the Navy is back from vacation.
- CDPH work continues and we are very happy with the progress they're making. A-2 scanning began last week (with some prep work the previous week). They are working with the developer to schedule dust wipe scanning in November.

PARCEL G

- New info on G? Do we want to say something about how it will take the Navy longer than expected to incorporate our comments?

DOJ TETRA TECH EC LAWSUIT

- DOJ filed paperwork to intervene in 3 whistleblower lawsuits against TetraTech EC. News reports stated that DOJ's focus would be on testing and scanning buildings.
- We do not have additional information on this. Has the City heard anything?

COMMUNICATIONS

- Soledad has sent EPA responses to SF Chronicle questions regarding the protectiveness of dust standards during the RSY pad process in 2007.
- What has the City heard about this or any other issues (i.e. Dan Hirsch reports)?

OTHER

- Fred Jordan from the African American Chamber of Commerce met with R9 Administrator Mike Stoker last Tuesday. Linda Parker Pennington also met with the RA on Tuesday.

MAYOR/SUPERVISOR

- Do you have any news from the Mayor or President Cohen?
