Subject: ST12 BCT call this afternoon

Just saw the response from AF to our joint letter. From brief scan and from looking at the presentation slides it appears they will be committing to characterization but not to containment. In the BCT call this morning on the other sites, amec had attorneys listening in on the phone. I just invited mine to participate if available. Loren, my supervisor was interested in participating but has another conflict and probably wont make it. Wayne, are you inviting Tony?

This email didn't come through to me until after the one forwarding Dan's comments, but of course I agree that forwarding them now is what needs to be done.

Just a heads up, all my plans for today have been changed. One of my mares has a sore foot, the vet is to be there around 4 pm. I will be doing the call from home, and I will have to go when he gets there.

Good Comments. In the interest of time and the discussion tomorrow; do you mind if I forward these to the BCT as a partial comment response. I know Amec is anxious to get going.
