Hi Pam,

I have to review our letter and I am hoping you know the answer to this off the top of your head. Andrew's e-mailed answer is a sufficient response for our purposes, right? In other words, we don't need a letter with a signature on it saying this? I am guessing not since I believe if they don't respond at all, we consider it not CBI if that is what we think the case is.

Thank you,
Jenny

Hello,

The QAPP is not considered CBI. I apologize if we made the error in classifying it as CBI.

Thank you.....Andrew

Hello Mr. Hartten,

Enclosed please find a CBI substantiation letter for your review. Instructions for responding are in the letter and due by the 15th working day following your receipt of this letter.

Under 40 C.F.R. 2.204(e)(1), the notice/substantiation shall be "furnished by certified mail, return receipt requested, by personal delivery, or by other means which allows verification of the fact and date of receipt." Due to the current telework situation, we are not mailing out hard copies of the substantiation request letter. Please respond to this email confirming receipt of the email and attachment.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. Please feel free to contact me with any questions.
