Hi Mary,

Below is a draft email for GAO with attachments for the Systematic Review presentation and requested documents discussed on May 24. Tina asked that I share with you before sending to GAO. All items are listed as internal/deliberative.

You are familiar with most of the attachments and the descriptions in the table below are relatively general. Some documents have already been shared (e.g., presentation and Handbook), but this email serves as official documentation as used in the past (used Lou's standard format). I would like to send to GAO this week, tomorrow if you have time to take a look.

I will send another draft email to you on Project Management with attachments shortly.

-James

Dear Summer,

Following up on our May 24th discussions, we are providing additional files that document the use of systematic review within the IRIS Program. In general, all the files contained in these emails should be considered internal/deliberative.

Attached included are described in the table below:
