Good night, Thierry:

I hope this email finds you well. My sincere apologies for the delay in getting this form back to you; it took some extra time to clarify who would be able to join the call. The meeting request form is attached.

I saw a Zoom invitation from Acting Assistant Administrator Goffman in my inbox for 11am Wednesday; thank you very much for reserving this time. Is it correct that our meeting is scheduled to last for half an hour (11-11:30 EST on 3/31)? We are extremely grateful for any of Acting Assistant Administrator Goffman's time and greatly appreciate this meeting. However, if it is possible that this meeting could be extended to one hour, I think it would be of benefit as this is a complex facility with serious ongoing pollution issues and a surrounding community with acute environmental justice concerns. I understand completely if this is not feasible, however. Kindly advise at your nearest convenience.

Thank you very much. Please do not hesitate to reach out with any questions or concerns. I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind wishes,
Elizabeth

Subject: Meeting request: Environmental Justice and St. Croix/Limetree Refinery
Importance: High

Good afternoon,

My name is Elizabeth Neville, and I am representing the St. Croix Environmental Association and our partners in appealing the Plantwide Applicability Limit air pollution permit issued to Limetree Bay Refinery on St. Croix before the Environmental Appeals Board (appeal no. CAA 20-02). Some of the concerns in our appeal include the extremely high pollution levels allowed for the refinery operations and inadequate consideration of our island's acute environmental justice needs. Already, there have been several worrisome incidents at the refinery in recent months, including a flare that caused a nearby neighborhood to be sprayed with oil droplets.

This incident and related community concerns are discussed in this recent article by Laura Sanicola from Reuters: Far from White House, Caribbean refinery to test Biden's promises on poverty and pollution, https://www.reuters.com/article/us-usa-caribbean-refinery-environment-in/far-from-white-house-caribbean-refinery-to-test-bidens-promises-on-poverty-and-pollution-idUSKBN2B00DA.

We are pleased by the Biden Administration's commitment to Environmental Justice and Climate Change initiatives, and its plans to review actions by the Trump Administration that are not in line with this commitment. We are hopeful that EPA will accordingly take action to support an EJ community like ours on St. Croix; we have greatly suffered from past pollution violations caused by Limetree's predecessor, Hovensa, and we are still recovering from two category five hurricanes in 2017.

In light of this commitment, we respectfully request the opportunity to meet with you over Zoom to discuss the concerns of the St. Croix community around the startup of the Limetree Bay Refinery. For clarity: we are not requesting this meeting to discuss the pending EAB petition but simply to introduce ourselves, discuss some relevant St. Croix community concerns, and to learn more about your agency's commitment to Environmental Justice. Are you available next week (3/15 - 3/19)? If so, we expect this meeting will be an hour or less and we would plan to bring about six to eight people. If you agree, we will follow your preferred protocol for our Zoom meeting.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration. Please do not hesitate to reach out with any questions. I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,
Elizabeth Neville

Requesting Organization: St. Croix Environmental Association (SEA)

Title of the Meeting: Limetree Bay Refinery – Community Concerns

Purpose: The purpose of this meeting is to discuss St. Croix community concerns related to the restart of the Limetree Bay Refinery.

Background: SEA and its partners appreciate the opportunity to share our concerns and experiences regarding the ongoing pollution and community health impacts being caused by the recently-restarted Limetree Bay (formerly Hovensa) oil refinery. SEA submitted comments on the draft Plantwide Applicability Limit (PAL) permit under the Clean Air Act and, following the PAL's finalization, appealed the PAL before the Environmental Appeals Board (EAB). EPA withdrew the PAL on March 25, ending the EAB appeal.

Is this meeting related to ongoing litigation: not currently (see above)

Earliest possible date for the meeting: 3/31/21

Last possible date for the meeting: 3/31/21

Is the meeting urgent and if so, why: Yes; several incidents have occurred since the refinery began restart procedures (including but not limited to an oil spillover from typical summer rains and a flare that caused oil to be spewed all over a nearby neighborhood). The refinery's current operations pose an acute threat to the community and environment on St. Croix and are contrary to the Biden administration's commitment to Environmental Justice.

Requested Time Length: 1 hour

Have you met with anyone within EPA: Only over the phone (Liliana Villatora and Suilin Chan)

Invitees: Acting Assistant Administrator Joe Goffman, Tomas Carbonell, Marsha Minter, Thomas Carroll, Peter Tsirigotis, Matthias Scott, Josh Lewis, Liliana Villatora, Suilin Chan, Matthew Tejada, Mike Koerber

As part of OEJ's national EJ community engagement call series, EPA is convening bi-weekly engagement calls that will focus on the Justice40 initiative, among other topis. These focused engagement calls are being convened as part of an Agency-wide effort to consult with stakeholders (including communities, and state, local, and tribal governments) to ensure broad public participation and that community stakeholders share their views about what constitutes the "benefits" of a program. Please note that there will be other engagement efforts conducted by your individual programs to seek meaningful consultation with underserved and overburdened communities about potential external direct investment benefits to such communities.

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Virtual 2022 Regional-ORD Community of Science Networking Program (ROCS-Net)
Day 2 Large Group Session Guide

Note: Unless otherwise noted, large group sessions will be hosted via Zoom. The Zoom Meeting room can be accessed here.

DAY 2 – April 5, 2022
Session Title and Description	Presenter
Large Group Presentation #1: General Drinking Water Treatment Research and Technical Assistance Overview Cincinnati, ORD conducts extensive research and technical support for lead (pb) in drinking water. EPA's state-of-the-art drinking water pilot plant, which represents a scaled-down version of a conventional water treatment plant, is designed to reflect conditions of a full-scale system for the purpose of studying the impact of drinking water treatment changes, effectiveness for the removal of contaminants, and the addition of new unit processes and practices. ORD conducts research on biological and conventional drinking water treatment and small, pilot-scale drinking water treatment apparatus. In the pilot plant, ORD conducts drinking water lead service line studies, studies on harmful algal blooms (HABs), and computer modeling tools that use high-quality lead service line data from the pilot plant to predict how residents in a town might be exposed to lead through their water supply—and how to prevent that exposure. ORD also has an Advanced Materials and Solids Analysis Resource Core (AMSARC) Laboratory in Cincinnati which is the foundation for the Agency's solids and surfaces analysis capabilities. This state-of-the-art analytical equipment supports various EPA projects, including lead corrosion control studies, lead service lines, and lead pipe analyses.	Regan Murray, EPA/ORD/CESER, Water Infrastructure Division Director
Large Group Presentation #2: Molecular methods used for HAB monitoring research Overview of EPA genomics research to understand, monitor and predict HABs and cyanotoxins, highlighting potential applications for states and tribes. This presentation will introduce molecular monitoring approaches used in the detection and quantification of cyanobacterial groups and cyanotoxin genes implicated in HABs. We will focus our discussion on results from next generation sequence analysis and qPCR/RT-qPCR methods used to characterize the cyanobacterial community structure, associated bacterial community, toxic cyanobacteria, and geographically localized genotypes (strains) or species. The methods are also used to study cyanobacterial functional genes associated with nutrients (i.e., nitrogen cycle) that may play a role in toxin production and their relationship to water quality parameters, as well as to explore drivers of cyanotoxin production using mRNA-based sequence analysis. We will also discuss the occurrence, distribution, and temporal-spatial variations of cyanobacteria, especially toxin-producers, and how they could be used as early warning systems for cyanotoxin production. Training for collaborators from regional offices, states and tribes are provided under certain EPA programs.	Jorge Santo-Domingo, EPA/ORD/CESER
Large Group Presentation #3: Recreational Water Monitoring Overview of ORD's research related to fecal pollution monitoring in recreational waters. Fecal pollution remains a significant challenge for recreational water quality management across many states, territories, and tribal lands. In response, EPA Office of Research and Development (ORD) maintains an active research program focused on method development, performance assessment, and science to support implementation. This presentation will provide an overview of ORD recreational water quality related research priorities, staff expertise, and current research activities. Emphasis will be placed on collaborative efforts and technical support opportunities.	Orin Shanks, ORD/CEMM

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Virtual 2022 Regional-ORD Community of Science Networking Program (ROCS-Net)
Day 3 Large Group Session Guide

Note: Unless otherwise noted, large group sessions will be hosted via Zoom. The Zoom Meeting room can be accessed here.

DAY 3 – April 6, 2022
Session Title and Description	Presenter
Kickoff and Event Overview (Day 3) and RSP Program Overview: Overview of Day 3 sessions and activities and presentation on collaborative opportunities through ORD's regional Science Program. ORD's Regional Science Program plays a vital role in linking ORD with EPA's Regional offices. The program, managed by ORD's Office of Science Advisor, Policy and Engagement (OSAPE), is implemented by a headquarters staff and a team of scientists and engineers located across the EPA Regions, the Regional Science Liaisons (RSLs). The Regional Science Program builds networks and partnerships between regional and ORD scientists, provides opportunities for collaborative research that addresses Regional, State, and Tribal science issues, and helps to facilitate technical assistance on challenging environmental problems. This presentation will include a brief overview of the Regional Science Program and some of the collaborative research opportunities that the program provides. ORD's Regional Science Program, managed by OSAPE, links the ORD to EPA's regional offices. It is staffed by the Regional Science Liaisons, building networks and partnerships between regional and ORD scientists, collaboration on research to address Regional, State, and Tribal science issues, and facilitates assistance on challenging environmental problems. This presentation will include an overview of the RSP and some of their research opportunities.	Nicholas Geroux, EPA/ORD/OSAPE, Regional Science Program Coordinator
Tools Café Session Tools demonstrations of four ORD tools related to water quality management. CyAN App: EPA's Cyanobacteria Assessment Network mobile application (CyAN app) is an easy-to-use and customizable app that provides access to cyanobacterial bloom satellite data for over 2,000 of the largest lakes and reservoirs across the USA. The presentation will describe how the app can help local and state water quality managers make faster and better-informed management decisions related to cyanobacterial blooms. Link to more information on CyAN App. Freshwater Explorer: EPA's Freshwater Explorer is an interactive web-based mapping tool that provides information about background and observed salt and mineral content for freshwater streams, lakes, and wells in all 50 U.S. states, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. This presentation will describe how the tool can be used by anyone, including citizens and non-governmental organizations, to better understand national and local water quality issues and to provide water quality information to help federal, state, territory, tribal, and local partners make decisions about freshwater resources. Link to more information on Freshwater Explorer. CADDIS: CADDIS, or the Causal Analysis/Diagnosis Decision Information System, is an on-line application designed to help users conduct causal assessments, primarily in stream ecosystems. It provides a logical, step-by-step framework for stressor identification based on the U.S. EPA's Stressor Identification Guidance Document, as well as the CADDIS application provides additional information and tools that can be used in these assessments. Link to more information on CADDIS. EnviroAtlas: EnviroAtlas is an interactive web-based tool that decision-makers can use to inform policy and planning in the places where people live, learn, work and play. Link to more information on EnviroAtlas.	CyAN App – Blake Schaeffer, EPA/ORD/CEMM Freshwater Explorer – Susan Cormier, EPA/ORD/CEMM CADDIS – Kate Schofield, EPA/ORD/CPHEA EnviroAtlas – Anne Neale, EPA/ORD/CPHEA

Large Group Presentation #4: The East Fork Watershed Study Overview of the East Fork Watershed Study aimed at better understanding the role stream ecosystems play in water quality protection and as a case study system/living laboratory for developing and testing innovative watershed management practices and procedures. U.S. EPA's East Fork Watershed Study (EFWS) centers attention on the integration of water quality modeling and monitoring, excess nutrient management, and the partnership needed to effectively implement nutrient reduction for water quality improvement in the East Fork of the Little Miami River Watershed, which has many impaired streams and a multi-use reservoir that is plagued by harmful algal blooms. Stream and lake sites are routinely sampled within the system, which occupies 500 mi^2 of southwestern Ohio, draining mostly agricultural lands (64% land cover) within five different counties. The watershed houses a significant urban area, 17 permitted wastewater plants, a few livestock operations, and over 11,000 septic systems, 34% of them projected to be failing. The East Fork Watershed Cooperative (EFWCoop), a multi-agency, multi-levels of governance, and multidisciplinary partnership was formed during the initial stages of the design of the EFWS. This partnership is used to leverage mitigation effort and supports ORD economics research into market-based approaches for reducing nutrients in watersheds. Water quality trading feasibility has been a central theme for the economics research. Additionally, the integration of watershed-scale methods and approaches has supported the study of aquatic life endpoints for establishing nutrient thresholds. The EFWS is currently in the process of demonstrating how these thresholds can be linked back to the distribution of nutrient sources for specifying spatially explicit nutrient loading allocations and reduction requirements for TMDL development. Modeling methods have been used to help guide watershed-level planning and implementation effort informed by relative costs and at relevant scale. Through EPA's EFWS and the work of the EFWCoop, lessons fostering a more efficient and coordinated use of funds for nutrient reduction are being learned, documented, and transferred to other like-minded partnerships.	Chris Nietch, EPA/ORD/CEMM
ROCS-Net Report-Out Panel Discussion: Participant Teams will share highlights of discussions they've had at the event, sessions which have been particularly informative, and planned follow-up actions	Participant Panel Discussion: ROCS-Net Team Participants (Regional/State/Tribal, one member from each team to present) Mary Ross, EPA/ORD, Director of the Office of Science Advisor Policy and Engagement Chris Robbins, EPA/ORD, Deputy Assistant Administrator for Management Bruce Rodan, EPA/ORD, Associate Director for Science

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Hello All, My apologies for the multiple emails – it seemed the documents were not opening correctly for some, hopefully these work better.

Best,
Nick

Greetings,

We are excited to host all of you virtually for our 2022 Regional/ORD Community of Science Networking (ROCS-Net) Event, focused on Harmful Algal Blooms and Water Infrastructure. Each year, the ROCS-Net provides a great opportunity for us to help build connections between EPA's researchers and our partners in the Regions and States. We are particularly excited this year to expand the ROCS-Net program to include representatives from Tribal Nations as well.

Attached you will find the agenda for the event which outlines the different event sessions and presentations, as well as a list of the participant teams for your reference. Below you will find a Zoom link for joining our virtual conference room. We will begin our meetings at 12 PM EST each day, but please plan to join a little bit early to allow time for resolving any technical telecommunications issues.

Participants and hosts: On Days 2 and 3, we will meet as a full group before moving to breakout sessions for individual teams. These breakout sessions will be hosted via separate Microsoft Teams invitations, coordinated by the Regional Science Liaisons. We will be using a different video conferencing platform for these events, so please note that you will have to switch to a different conference line for those sessions.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your RSL or to me and we will be happy to assist you.

Looking forward to meeting all of you,
Nick

Definitions

Cumulative Impacts – ORD Interim Draft:

- Refers to the total burden of health-effecting conditions or circumstances on an individual or community
  - At a given point in time or over a period of time
  - Considered within the context of an action or specific exposure to a stressor
- Provides context for characterizing the potential state of "vulnerability" of the individual or community, i.e., their ability to withstand or recover from additional hazardous exposures under consideration
- Are the total effects on an individual or a human community directly and indirectly through impacts on resources and ecosystems from actions or stressors and all other activities

Cumulative Risk Assessment: An analysis, characterization, and possible quantification of the combined risks to human health or the environment from multiple agents or stressors (US EPA 2003)

ED_006247N_00002981-00001

Elements of Cumulative Impact Assessments

Elements include consideration of the following:

1. Combined impacts across multiple stressors
2. Multiple sources of stressors
3. Multiple exposure pathways
4. Past exposures, especially at vulnerable ages
5. Nonchemical stressors, including social, cultural, and economic determinants of health
6. Community vulnerability

CUMULATIVE IMPACTS

STATE & LOCAL LISTENING SESSIONS

TO INFORM RESEARCH PLANNING

GUIDING QUESTIONS

Below are some guiding questions that might help you prepare for the listening session; however do not feel limited to these.

1. What does the issue of cumulative impacts mean to you?
    a. Does your state or local agency have a formal definition of cumulative impacts or what characteristics are considered associated with the topic (e.g., chemical only, including non-chemical stressors, timescale, impacts both positive and negative)?

2. What is your state's or local agency's major priorities or concerns with respect to cumulative impacts (e.g., what are the types of cumulative impacts or stressors that are of the greatest concern)?

3. Are there challenges in addressing cumulative impacts that your state or local agency faces where additional knowledge or scientific discovery could be helpful? Challenges could include the following:
    a. Ambient air quality and deposition and human and ecosystem exposures to criteria pollutants and air toxics, along with stressors from the built and social environment and climate change.
    b. Sources and exposure and hazard information for chemicals (including safer alternatives), chemical mixtures, and emerging materials and technologies.
    c. Health disparities and differing sensitivity within populations and communities, including those with environmental justice and equity concerns.
    d. Multiple stressors affecting communities during incident response.

Dear Dr. Orme-Zavaleta,

We are writing on behalf of the Union of Concerned Scientists (UCS) and the Environmental Defense Fund (EDF) to request a meeting to discuss the EPA's approach to scientific advisory committees under the Biden Administration. As you know, independent science advice to inform agency research direction, guide science-based policy decisions, and coordinate federal, state, and local regulatory science, is a critical piece of infrastructure at the agency. We know that Administrator Regan values the role of EPA's science advisory committees and are encouraged by his decision to reconstitute SAB and CASAC membership to ensure they are comprised of high-quality experts free from conflicts of interest and are appropriately balanced. The shift that the new EPA leadership has made toward prioritizing scientific integrity and evaluating losses of scientific integrity under the previous administration is an essential step in the right direction and we are looking forward to an accounting of those incidents with attendant policy changes that will insulate future scientific work from such political interference.

UCS and EDF have long followed the work of EPA's science advisory committees and advocated for improved conflict of interest vetting procedures and transparency and accessibility measures. The Biden Administration's January 27th Memorandum on Restoring Trust in Government Through Scientific Integrity and Evidence-Based Policymaking triggered a review process for all government agencies to assess the current and future needs for science advisory committees, including relevant changes to policies, processes, and practices related to vetting and selection of members. The memo is explicit about the need for increased racial, ethnic, and gender diversity and a wider range of experience and expertise of scientists serving on these committees.

We would like to meet with you, and other EPA staff working on the agency-wide committee review, to understand what changes the agency plans to make to implement the Biden administration's memo and to discuss our recommendations for a strengthened advisory committee system at EPA.

To discuss scheduling a meeting, please contact Genna Reed of UCS at GReed@ucsusa.org or Jennifer McPartland of EDF at jmcpartland@edf.org. Thank you for your consideration of this request and we look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Genna Reed

Title of the Meeting:
Reconsideration of the PM and ozone NAAQS

Purpose:
To discuss the need for reconsideration of the PM and ozone NAAQS, and processes and timelines for accomplishing those reconsiderations.

Background:
The previous administration's just-completed reviews of the National Ambient Air Quality Standards ("NAAQS") for particulate matter and ozone are inadequately protective and products of a corrupted regulatory process. The requesting organizations represent millions of members and supporters across the country who are deeply concerned about the health, environmental, and economic impacts of pollution and support setting strong, science-based NAAQS that ensure public health and the environment are protected. The NAAQS for these two pollutants have a direct impact on millions of lives. More protective standards will avert tens of thousands of premature deaths, save millions from asthma attacks, and protect vegetation, wildlife, and treasured natural places from the deleterious effects of pollution. Especially notable, strengthening these standards can help redress environmental injustice. For example, a recent study in Science Advances finds that nearly all types of anthropogenic sources of fine particulate matter disproportionately affect people of color (https://advances.sciencemag.org/content/7/18/eabf4491). The American Lung Association's most recent State of the Air report finds that people of color are over three times more likely to be breathing the most polluted air than white people (https://www.lung.org/research/sota/key-findings). Thus, stronger PM and ozone NAAQS are critical to meeting the administration's goal to advance environmental justice in the U.S. through science-based policy. We urge EPA to move forward expeditiously to complete scientifically well-founded, swift, and procedurally reasonable reconsiderations of these NAAQS, and would appreciate the opportunity to discuss possible processes and timelines with you.

Earliest possible date for the meeting:
5/17/21

Last possible date for the meeting:
6/18/21

Is the meeting urgent and if so, why?
Yes. Decision-making about these NAAQS is well under way. As of mid-March, per Mr. Goffman's public statements at a Clean Air Act Advisory Committee meeting, EPA's internal discussions about reconsidering these NAAQS had already begun, with Administrator-level briefings in the offing. Further, EPA has already taken an important public step that could be relevant to reconsideration by dismissing the Clean Air Scientific Advisory Committee and beginning the process of reconstituting it. The requesting organizations have an important perspective to share to inform this decision-making.
