Hi Kendra –

To save time in the introductions during today's meeting, I've included below some information about the participants and their interest in the topic, the Safer Choice program. Would you mind passing this along to Michal ahead of our discussion today?

Thanks so much,

Kevin

Name	Organization	Role	Interest in Safer Choice
Steve Bennett	Household & Commercial Products Association	EVP, Scientific & Regulatory Affairs	Long-time supporter of SC and expansion of program, works with companies on technical

			aspects of SC
Lisa Cox	Oregon Department of Environmental Quality	Toxic Reduction Analyst
Ben Dunham	Dunham Law & Policy	Principal Attorney
Jen Jackson	City of San Francisco	Toxics Reduction Program Manager	Promote SC in city purchasing, green business certification, residential outreach, use SCIL to identify safer chemicals
Jim Jones	JJonesEnvironmental	President	Priority for clients HCPA and GC3
Jennifer McPartland	Environmental Defense Fund	Senior Scientist, Health Program	Key product recognition program referenced in EDF's market-facing chemicals advocacy, particularly with retailers, brands, and third-party chemical assessment firms that support product formulation decisions.
Kevin Serafino	Household & Commercial Products Association	VP, Government Relations & Public Policy and Counsel	Representing formulated products used in home and commercial environments. Long-time supporter of SC, working with brands to understand SC and its requirements, and its value to consumers. Four-time Safer Choice Partner of the Year.
Joel Tickner	UMass Lowell Green Chemistry & Commerce Council, MA Toxics Use Reduction Inst	Professor/Director	Have worked with the Design for Environment (DfE) and Safer Choice programs since the 1990s - pioneers in tools to support industry in driving safer chemistry. Safer Choice is highly recognized, supported by companies across the value chain in GC3 and has demonstrated value as a leading edge program advancing safer chemistry globally
Ken Zarker	WA State & ECOS TSCA Workgroup	Section Manager	Use of Safer Choice criteria in our regulatory determinations of what is "safer" by law; SCIL;

			state purchasing; marketing SC
